LOCAL NOMINATION FIGHT ARGUED

Democrats Interview Attorneys

Six attorneys actively seeking a third position on the Democratic ballot in the November judgeship campaign in Westmoreland County were "interviewed" today by the party's policy - making committee.

Jay W. Kromer, Westmoreland County Democratic chairman, said today's meeting was designed to acquaint party leaders with the six candidates.

He said an actual selection will be made sometime soon by the party's executive committee.

The attorneys interviewed in Greensburg included David H. Weiss, of Monessen; Jack Best, of Jeannette; Paul W. Mahady, of Latrobe; Vincent Williams, of Greensburg; James L. McWherter, of Derry; and Joseph M. Loughran, of Greensburg.

Get Five Minutes

They are seeking the vacancy created by the death of Judge George H. McWherter. Judge Edward G. Bauer and District Attorney L. Alexander Sculco have already been selected as two of the three Democratic nominees.

At today's meeting, each candidate was given five minutes to present his qualifications. However, Kromer said he did not stop any of them from talking longer. The meeting was not open to the press or public

According to Kromer, about 70 Democratic office-holders and other party "dignataries" attended the meeting

Kromer said the actual selection will be made by the executive committee, which is comprised of the chairmen and vice-chairmen of all municipalities in the county. The total membership of this committee is 126, and each member has one vote.

Kromer pointed out that party rules clearly state that the executive committee makes such decisions. He promised to call a meeting of this committee "in the very near future"

Three 'More Likely'

County political observers feel that three candidates are "more likely" than the rest.

The favorites are Weiss, Best and Mahady.

It's no secret that party officials from Monessen are pulling hard for Weiss, who is the city's solicitor. And they are confident that their man is ahead at the moment

Mahady, active in veterans' organizations and a member of a well-known county family, is reportedly receiving considerable support from his home town of Latrobe.

Political observers also feel that Best is a strong possibility.

However, they see little hope for Williams, Loughran or McWherter. The latter is the nephew of the judge whose death created the vacancy. Both McWherter and Loughran were defeated in the May primaries.

Reprotedly, one of the considerations being weighed heavily by the county leaders is the candidate's ability to kick in to the campaign coffers.

Kromer emphasized today that the policy-making committee will make no recommendation, leaving the issue entirely up to the executive committee.

The Republicans have already selected Avra N. Pershing, Jr., Robert H. Rial and Willis Topper as their candidates in the judgeship race.

Man's Auto Slams Into Parked Bus

David Blair, 26, of 114 Walnut St. Belle Vernon, was treated and released at Charleroi-Monessen Hospital Saturday night after his car struck a parked Greyhound bus in Charleroi.

Blair told Charleroi police that he was forced from his lane of traffic by another car into the rear of the bus, which was parked on McKean Ave. near First St.

Police said the Blair car was demolished. The bus was also damaged, according to the police report.

Stubborn Brush Fire

NEWHALL, Calif. (UP)— Some 150 firefighters today hoped to control a stubborn brush fire which swept 875-acres and in its early stages threatened to engulf this small foothill community.

Khrushchev Zapotocky

A 'MARRIAGE' PROPOSAL — Russia's Nikita Khrushchev is greeted by Czech president Antonin Zapotocky at Prague's Hradcany castle. The Soviet Communist party boss proposed a marriage of convenience between the Communist and capitalist nations to avert war. He said: "Let's try it. Let us compete and see who is better, but let us do it peacefully."

Soviet Bosses Tour The Czech Provinces

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia (UP) — Communist Party Secretary Nikita Khrushchev and Soviet Premier Nikolai Bulganin spent their last full day in Czechoslovakia today making another tour of the provinces.

Again they split into two groups. Khrushchev's party went to Pilsen the largest industrial town in Czechoslovakia, which is famed for its beer and metallurgical works. He is to visit the former Skoda works, now known as the Lenin factory, where he may speak.

Bulganin headed a group which went to Most in northwest Bohemia, a mining town near the East German frontier. Western newsmen were barred again from accompanying them.

Bulganin and Khrushchev were believed putting the final touches sometime during the day on a joint communique for publication today or Tuesday. The communique, expected to reaffirm the solidarity of Czech - Russian friendship, would be issued before their departure.

Unity Is Stressed

Diplomatic sources expected no major revelations in the communique.

Today's Rude Pravo, organ of the Czech Communist Party, carried a two column editorial today again stressing the need for unity in the Communist camp and the closest possible cooperation with the Soviet Union.

The newspaper quoted an excerpt from the Ostrava speech a few days ago by Czech Communist Party Secretary Antonin Novotny in which he said:

"Now and in the future we shall always advance in the closest union with the Communist Party of the Soviet Union which is the real vanguard of all Communist parties just as the Soviet Union is the natural center of all revolutionary efforts of the working people throughout the world."

Monessen Man's Car Overturns; Escapes Hurts

William Guzzie, 33, of 483 Mothersal Ave., Monessen, miraculously escaped apparent injury when his car overturned on Brewery Hill Road yesterday around 8 p. m.

State police said Guzzie was "shaken up" but apparently suffered no serious hurts as his car ran off the road and overturned in a ditch. Guzzie told police he lost control of his car as he headed down the steep hill into Monessen.

In another district auto accident over the weekend, two Washington County youths were injured when the car in which they were riding ran off the road and overturned one mile west of Ellsworth on Route 71.

Treated and released at Washington hospital were Richard Oblak, 17, of Ellsworth driver of the car, and Pete Error, 19, of Cokeburg.

State police said the youths were travelling west on Route 71 when Oblak apparently fell asleep at the wheel. The car left the road and overturned in a nearby field.

Damage was estimated at $500

Patient Who Jumped From Hospital Dies

A patient who leaped from a third floor window of Monongahela Memorial Hospital early Friday died at 5 a. m. Saturday.

However a hospital spokesman said today that an autopsy revealed no connection between cause of death and injuries sustained in the fall.

The dead man was identified as Michael J. Karllo, Jr., 40, of Mongahela R. D. 2. He had been under physician's care for a year and was admitted to the hospital early last week, according to a hospital spokesman.

Miss Ann Caldwell, administrator of the hospital, said that Karllo apparently leaped from a rear window early Friday morning. She said she was unable to describe the injuries suffered in the fall.

Karllo was born in Monongahela Sept. 4, 1916 and had lived his entire life there. He worked for the Stauffer Chemical Co., Frye Station for 10 years and for the five years prior to his death, had been employed at the Mathias Coal Co.

He was a member of St. Anthony's R. C. Church and the Holy Name Society of the church, and the Knights of St. George.

Survivors include his wife, Mrs Gertrude Gavlak Karllo; two sons, Michael and Daniel, both at home; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael J. Karllo Sr., of Monongahela, R. D. 2; and six sisters, Mrs. Edward (Susan) Habig, of Hackinsack, N. J.; Mrs. Michael (Mary) Gaidos, of Fisher Heights; Mrs. Michael (Margaret) Bucchianeri, of Detroit, Mich.; Mrs. Joseph (Ann) Matty, of Monessen; Mrs. L. E. (Bertha) Carlson, of St. Albanns, W. Va.; and Mrs. James (Wilma) Martin Jr. of Seattle, Wash.

Friends are being received at the Paul A. D'Altorio Funeral Home, 509 W. Main St., Monongahela.

Knowland Says GOP Won't Kill Protested Civil Rights Provision

WASHINGTON (UP) — Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland doubted today that the administration would agree to killing the civil rights bill provision which southern Democrats most strongly protested.

The provision would permit the Justice Department to seek court injunctions against conspiracies to deprive persons of their civil rights and would permit trial without jury of those violating such injunctions.

Southerners have demanded that this section — part III of the bill —be dropped. The demand has played a key role in compromise proposals now being discussed.

The southerners argue that the provision would authorize use of federal troops to enforce court orders against racial segregation in schools and other public places.

Other sections of the bill, less distasteful to the South, would: 1—Create a commission to investigate violations of civil rights; 2—Provide for appointment of a new assistant attorney general to head a civil rights division in the Justice Department, and 3 — Authorize injunctions to prevent violations of Negro voting rights.

Knowland was questioned on the administrations view of Part II as the Senate began its second week of debate on his motion to take up the House-approved administration bill. The Senate will vote on the motion at about 6:00 p.m. e.d.t., Tuesday and then begin working on the bill itself.

A sizeable number of senators appeared in the mood for compromise. But these included Republicans who might be less conciliatory if the President urged them to fight for the bill "as is."

A hint of Eisenhower's attitude was given by Sen. Karl E Mundt (R-S.D.), author of one compromise proposal. Mundt told newsmen Sunday he does not believe the President will try to influence the Senate vote on his compromise.

Mundt's proposal would eliminate two of the features in the pending civil rights bill most objectionable to southerners. It would do away with provisions for injunctions in rights cases other than voting complaints; and it would provide jury trials for violations of injunctions in voting cases in which the facts are in dispute.

This would meet the main objection of southerners to the House-approved administration bill. Otherwise the bill provides for a new civil rights division in the Justice Department and a bipartisan commission with sub-

Nemacolin Club's New Pool Springs Leak; Water Lost

The dedication of Nemacolin Country Club's new $75,000 swimming pool was hastily called off yesterday when a leak permitted the water to drain out.

Club officials plan to hold the dedication ceremonies in a couple of weeks after workmen have straightened things out.

Actually yesterday's dedication was somewhat "rigged" to begin with.

A shipment of pipe failed to arrive last week, making it impossible to complete connections on the water supply line. However Club officials, anxious to stage the dedication on schedule, asked the nearby Richeyville Fire Co. to help out.

The firemen spent nearly 20 hours pumping 110,000 gallons of water into the pool, and everything appeared in readiness.

However the pool was stone dry yesterday. It, seemed an underground leak permitted the water to drain out

A nearby wading pool for the youngsters held up better. The children had their swim on schedule.

According to a Club spokesman, the necessary pipe is due this week He said the lead had already been repaired and promised water for the formal dedication.

Marijuana Fields Discovered in Pittsburgh Area

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Detectives looked today for the farmer" who planted two acres of hillside land in the South Side with marijuana, which when harvested would have been worth a quarter million dollars in the underground narcotics market.

Acting on a tip, police tramped the area—within a mile of the Golden Triangle—for eight days before locating the two patches of the reefer" weed Saturday. The plants have been doused with a powerful weed killer to assure that none reached narcotics peddlers.

Adam Geisler, assistant detective superintendent, said the plants, some as high as 14 feet, definitely were cultivated and not growing wild"

Detective Arthur Palmer said the discovery was just made in time because the marijuana was ready to cut." One patch was found on the hillside under the Mt Washington Roadway and the second along the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie Railroad tracks on the bank of the Monongahela River.

The plants were placed under guard until workers of the City Forestry Division completed spraying them with the weed killer.

Judging for Miss Universe Tomorrow

LONG BEACH, Calif. (UP) — Miss Universe contestants today were to rehearse at Long Beach Municipal Auditorium where Tuesday they will parade in front of the judges.

(Rosalie Culp, of Monessen, is representing the State of Pennsylvania in the Miss Universe contest.)

The 76 girls, including 2 from foreign countries, Sunday passed in review in the world's biggest beauty parade. Thousands of persons lined Ocean Boulevard to see the bathing suit clad contestants ride by on individual floats.

Ike at Secret Command Post

SECRET HEADQUARTERS, Operation Alert (UP)—President Eisenhower joined a skeleton government staff here today in the gigantic task of putting the nation back on its feet following Friday's mock atomic assault.

The President flew to this secret command post of operation alert — code named "High Point" —in a bubble-domed helicopter which took off earlier from the lawn of his Gettysburg, Pa., farm

He immediately went into conferences with civil defense and mobilization chiefs who are directing the work of more than 100,000 agencies of federal, state and local governments in practicing the kind of mass national reorganization that would follow an enemy nuclear attack.

$817,000 Estate For Area Man

Donald M. Campsey, of Claysville, has inherited an $817,000 estate.

The money was left by his brother, George A. Campsey, a former newsman who died June 28, 1956 in Pittsburgh.

Mr. Campsey, who worked as a reporter on the old Pittsburgh Gazette, then became an agent for the Carnegie Hero Fund and later secretary of the Stamp Manufacturers' Assn., also left $10,000 to Mrs. Jacob Brunner, of Pittsburgh, a longtime friend of the family.

The remainder of the estate was willed to his brother.

Editorial Staff Of Independent Is Expanded

An expansion of The Daily Independent's editorial staff was announced today by Harry R. Pore Jr., co-publisher and editor

Allen Kline, sports editor for the past six years, became city editor, a new post in which he will have charge of all local news coverage

Replacing Kline on the sports desk is Clair Brown, formerly sports editor of The Daily Republican at Monongahela.

But the appointments were effective today.

"The constantly increasing circulation of The Independent, particularly in communities and areas outside the city limits of Monessen, is putting heavier demands on our news staff," Pore said.

Native of Webster

"We are striving to produce a paper which will be more and more interesting to this broadening readership, and this enlargement of the staff is part of our effort."

Kline, whose home is in Webster, attended the public school there and graduated from Rostraver Township High School. He also attended Duquesne University.

He began newspaper work in the sports department of The Independent in 1947 and later worked on the now defunct Monessen Morning News, the Monongahela Daily Republican and the Donora

Parente, Stieska Case Expected to Go Even Higher

Three Westmoreland County judges sitting en banc today heard attorneys re-hash arguments as to whether Hugo J. Parente or John R. Stieska is the lawful Republican nominee for mayor of Monessen.

However they decide, the controversy is expected to reach the Pennsylvania Supreme Court, whose opinion probably would set a precedent

The three county judges will first review a decision made last week by President Judge Richard D. Laird, who ruled that Stieska is entitled to the nomination.

Judge Laird was joined today in a re-hearing of the arguments by Common Pleas Judge John M. O'Connell and Orphans Court Judge Charles D. Copeland. The argument lasted for about an hour and a half.

At its conclusion, Judge Laird indicated that no opinion would be handed down today. But he said it could be expected "promptly". Court observers took that to mean tomorrow or Wednesday.

Arguing the case for Stieska was Attorney Daniel J. Snyder Jr. of Greensburg, while Attorneys Bernard Shire, of Monessen, and Paul K. McCormick, of Greensburg, represented Parente.

Sticker Votes

At issue in the case is whether the County Election Board should or should not cumulate write-in and sticker votes cast on voting machines regardless of how the candidate's name is spelled.

The County Election Board, acting on the advice of its solicitor, had ruled that such votes could not be cumulated and on that basis awarded the nomination to Parente, 70 to 58.

But Judge Laird overruled the Election Board and said all the votes cast should be counted, regardless of how the names are spelled or abbreviated. Judge Laird gave the nomination to Stieska, 170 to 149.

Snyder argued today that a Supreme Court decision had declared that write-in votes cast where paper ballots are used could be cumulated where the intent of the voter is clear. The attorney said the same rule should apply where voting machines are used.

Shire and McCormick contended that the law is not the same for voting machines as for paper ballots.

Case Watched Closely

Both sides agreed that the Supreme Court has never passed on the question of cumulating write-ins cast on voting machines. They have indicated that the county court's decision will be

Car Damaged in Local Accident

Monessen police reported some damage but no injuries in an accident at 821 Donner Ave. on Friday at 8 p. m.

Emil Joseph Matsko, 410 Walnut St Donora, said he was getting out of his parked car when the door was hit by an auto operated by Thomas W. Duggins, 436 Henry St., Belle Vernon.

Local Man Is Found Dead at Home Yesterday

Ralph (Zurich) Zugaro, 69, was found dead yesterday in his home at 400 4th St., rear, Monessen.

Westmoreland County Coroner Stephen Yoney said that Zugaro was found by his sister-in-law, Mrs. Mary Scirotto DeLillo, who had gone to investigate when neighbors reported that Zugaro hadn't been seen for several days.

Yoney estimated that Zugaro had been dead since Wednesday. Cause of death was listed as cerebral hemorrhage.

Zugaro lived alone, Yoney said.

Born in Paganica Province, Acquilla, Italy, May 19, 1888, Mr. Zugaro had lived in Monessen since 1908. A retired employe of the Monessen plant of Pittsburgh Steel Co, he was a member of the St. Cajetan R. C. Church.

Surviving are a brother, Ben, of Monessen and several nieces and nephews. He was predeceased by his wife, Mrs. Anna Scirotto Zugaro in 1940.

Funeral services were held today at 2:30 p. m. followed by interment in Grandview Cemetery

Report Brooklyn Will Stay; To Get New Stadium

NEW YORK UP) — The New York World - Telegram and Sun said today the way has been cleared for the construction of a new baseball stadium in Brooklyn and the Dodgers will remain in the city instead of transferring to Los Angeles.

The Scripps - Howard newspaper reported in a lead page one news story it has learned that Mayor Robert F. Wagner soon would have on his desk a report recommending that the citys Board of Estimate approve a 30-million dollar ballpark project at its July 25 meeting.

Plans call for the ballpark to be built at the site in downtown Brooklyn which President Walter O'Malley of the Dodgers has preferred. O'Malley has said he would not move the club to California if he could have a ballpark built at the site now being considered in the city's plans.

At a meeting of major league club owners in Chicago May 28, approval was voted for the Dodgers to move to Los Angeles and the New York Giants to San Francisco.

City Park Band Concert Wed.

A band concert will be presented Wednesday at 7 p. m. in City Park.

The music will be provided by the Recreation Community Band under the baton of John Jannotta.

The program will include these selections:

The Goldman Band March, Chicago Tribune March, The Bridal Rose Overture, The U. S. Field Artillery March, Delecta Fantasia for B Flat Clarinet, Intermezzo Elegante from Les Countes D'Hoffman, Men of Valor March, Alda Overture, Pageantry March, The Star Spangled Banner.

Fluorescent Lights For Washington

A fluorescent lighting system similar to the one planned for Monessen, will be turned on in Washington, Pa., at 9:30 p. m. on July 26.

Washington will thus become the first city n Pennsylvania to be completely illuminated by fluorescent street lights. Several boroughs, including Irwin and Kittanning, already have fluorescent systems.

A total of 86 fluorescent lights has been installed by the West Penn Power Co. in Washington.

Rescue Attempt Fatal For Brownsville Man

Firemen dragged the body of Richard Boyle, 27, of 801 York St, Brownsville, from the Monongahela River near California yesterday at 7 p. m., about two hours after he had rescued his wife from drowning.

Boyd jumped into the river from a motorboat to save his wife, Agnes. After successfully getting her aboard the boat, he disappeared and was not seen again until firemen recovered his body.

The Boyles had hitch-hiked a ride in a motorboat owned by Edward Welds, 44, of Canonsburg. They asked for the "lift" at the California wharf in order to attend a picnic downstream.

En route, the craft became disabled when a part sheared off the housing. As the boat drifted helplessly in the river, a U. S. Steel diesel, the James E. Lose, pushing six loaded barges northward toward Pittsburgh, sideswiped it.

Mrs. Boyle and two other occupants — Mrs. Catherine Welds, 43, and her son Edward Jr., 13, — apparently became frightened and jumped into the river.

Welds rescued his wife and son. Boyle also reached his wife and hoisted her to safety on the boat He then disappeared.

Authorities said Boyle had a reputation as a good swimmer.

The motorboat was not damaged in the collision.

An electrician for the Monongahela Railways at Brownsville, Boyle is survived by his wife; one son, Mark; his parents Mr. and Mrs. Edwin G. Boyle, California, and one brother, Wesley B. Boyle, California.

School Subsidy Boost Signed

Poorer Districts To Benefit

HARRISBURG (UP)—Compromise legislation to increase state aid to school districts by $33,099,519 over the next two years was signed today by Gov. George M. Leader.

Enactment of the measure marked a victory for the poorer school districts which will receive a better financial break under its provisions. The bill was also a compromise solution after a stormy legislative passage when the Philadelphia and Pittburgh delegations forced changes to make it more acceptable to them.

Pennsylvania's two largest cities also were given legislation allowing them to increase taxing powers for school purposes by three-quarters of a mill.

Leader listed four principal provisions of the lengthy measure and said they would:

—Increase maximum subsidy for the 1956-57 school year from $5,100 to $5,300 and up to $5,800 for the 1957-58 school year.

—Hike the local effort rate from four mills to 4¾ mills and reimbursement for transportation stabilized at $5,100 and from a four mill local effort rate.

—Pay instruction reimbursements starting with the 1957-58 school year on the lesser of actual instruction expense or standard cost.

—Make reinbursement for children attending schools of other districts under the same account as reimbursement for children attending schools within their district of residence.

Leader said the measure would compensate for teachers' salary increases mandated by the 1955 Legislature and paid by the school districts and alleviate some of the financial problems facing Pennsylvania's school districts.

Another new law signed by the governor required the Public Instruction Department to audit the records and accounts of all school districts to decrmine heir rights to reimbursement. The bill also appropriated $200,000 for the project.

Other legislation signed included measures to:

—Require that third class city authorities fix the annual salaries for the city treasurer as tax collector prior to his election. The measure also removed minimum and maximum salary schedules based upon population.

—Appropriate $768,875 to the Welfare Deartment for state supored homes for operaing expenses during the current biennium.

pena powers to investigate alleged voting rights violations.

The Senate has agreed to vote at about 6 p. m. e.d.t. Tuesday on a preliminary motion to formally consider the administration bill. This is expected to carry easily —itself a major landmark in civil rights legislation. No motion to even consider a rights bill has survived a southern filibuster in recent years.

There was a fairly widespread belief in the Senate that it will ultimately pass a bill, limited primarily to protection of voting rights, and perhaps without a full-blown southern filibuster. Even some southerners privately shared this view.

Nevertheless many days of debate and negotiation are expected after Tuesday's vote before a final decision is reached.

Chemical Agent in Cigarette Smoke Blamed in Lung Cancer

WASHINGTON (UP) — U. S. Surgeon General Leroy E. Burney said today government scientists have found a chemical agent in cigarette smoke which they suspect may cause lung cancer.

Burney, in an interview with the United Press, identified the substance as benzopyrene. He said it is formed when the aromatic oils in tobacco are burned at a high temperature and "cracked" much like crude oil is cracked to make gasoline.

The chief of the Public Health Service emphasized that "no one has definitely isolated the cause of lung cancer." But he said researchers believe "excessive and prolonged" exposure to benzopyrene may be it.

Burney said benzopyrene was found in significant amounts only in cigarette smoke because only cigarettes burn at high enough temperatures—800 to 815 degrees Fahrenheit—to crack the aromatic oils. Pipe tobacco and cigars burn at much lower temperatures, he said.

Last week Burney issued a statement declaring there is "increasing and consistent evidence" that "excessive" cigarette smoking is one of the causes of lung cancer. The Public Health Service made no recommendation to the public as to how it should act on this information.

Asked by a reporter whether the statement was a warning, Burney said:

"It amounts to a warning to stop smoking cigarettes, but we would like to have more positive proof before issuing a warning as such."

He said the Public Health Service's present aim is to transmit scientific findings on cigarettes to state and local health officials so physicians can advise their patients on an individual basis.

In other words if you want to know what to do about cigarette smoking, see your doctor.

"In our cigarette research laboratory we have 16 scientists — and 13 are continuing to smoke cigarettes," Burney commented. "I guess they feel this is a personal decision and will take the chance."

Burney said it "might be difficult" to get the aromatic oils out of cigarette tobacco to make them safe if benzopyrene is proved a cause of cancer.

appealed regardless of how it goes.

A comparable situation exists with respect to a Republican homination for city council at Arnold. The two cases were argued simultaneously before the court en banc today.

County political leaders are watching the case closely.

Mayor Parente, who won the Democratic nomination for a fourth term against Stieska, was in the courtroom this morning along with Chief County Detective Arthur B. "Buddy" Turner, reputed boss of the Democratic organization. Stieska was not present.

Parente is anxious to capture both party nominations and thus avoid another battle with Stieska. The Mayor won the Democratic primary contest by about 1,400 votes.

Stieska has announced that he will wage an aggressive campaign if he is declared the Republican nominee.

J&L to Expand Stainless Steel Plant in Ohio

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp. today announced it will purchase land and buildings from the Louis Berkman Co., of Louisville, Ohio, near Canton for expansion of a stainless steel division.

Avery C. Adams, J&L president, said the new property will be used for installation of flat rolling equipment. He cited ready access to the Pennsylvania Railroad and the Ohio Turnpike as one reason the Louisville site was selected.

Adams expects operations at the new rolling mill will begin in the third quarter of next year.

The Berkman company, with headquarters in Steubenville, Ohio, formerly operated its Superior Steel Division on the property, which has a total area of 260,000 square feet on 140 acres. Four buildings are included in the acquisition. No sale price was announced.

$100,000 Fire in Ohio Supermarket

EAST LIVERPOOL, Ohio (UP) —An overheated motor in a refrigeration system was blamed today for a $100,000 fire which swept the Loblaw supermarket.

Firemen of five companies battled for two hours Sunday before bringing under control the blaze which burned out the interior and damaged the walls and roof of the one-story building on Route 30.

Civil Defense Officials Work To Revamp Nation

EMERGENCY NEWS HEADQUARTERS, Operation Alert (UP)—More than 100,000 agencies of federal, state and local governments today began the hypothetical job of putting the nation back on its feet following a make-believe nuclear assault that took a staggering toll.

Some 95,500,000 persons were affected by the imaginary nuclear bombardment of 155 American cities Friday in this year's Civil Defense test. About 41 million of these were "evacuated"—the rest presumably were killed or left behind.

President Eisenhower was to helicopter to a secret Civil Defense command post from his Gettysburg, Pa., farm to check on activities in this post-attack phase of "Operation Alert 1957."

The "attack" by supersonic enemy bombers hit all parts of the United States except Louisiana and Arkansas. Civil Defense officials in those states were too busy with real devastation left in the wake of hurricane Audrey and recent floods to participate in the test.

The new phase of the drill was called the "governmental mobilization action period" — the massive job of national rehabilitation.

Civil Defense officials assumed they were facing a situation that would develop 15 days after an attack.

During this final week - long phase of Operation Alert, the exercise will put emphasis on actions required to meet the survival needs of the nation; to maintain continuity of government; to put the nation's industry on an emergency footing; and to expand the nation's defense forces for emergency action.

Dud Bomb Is Fired Today

ATOMIC TEST SITE, Nev. (UP) — Dud bomb "Diablo," which failed to fire June 28 when it was triggered on top of its 500-foot platform, was fired today at 4:30 a.m., p.d.t., at the Atomic Energy Commission's proving ground.

The blast developed the usual characteristics of nuclear devices as it disintegrated its tower and sent a cloud mushrooming into the predawn darkness. A faint glow silhouetted the mountain backdrop.

Scientists at a pre-shot briefing announced they expected the device to have a yield of some 10,000 tons of TNT.

Israeli Tanks Silence Syrian Artillery Guns

By ELIAV SIMON

JERUSALEM, Israel (UP) — The Israeli army used tanks last Tuesday to silence Syrian artillery and mortars in a 10-hour border battle, it was disclosed today.

The tanks were purchased from France several months before the Sinai campaign where they distinguished themselves in battles with Soviet-built T34 tanks.

Government sources said Israel sent the tanks into action in the Gonen sector of the Israeli-Syrian frontier because Syria had refused United Nations cease-fire orders.

Source Of Rumor

The Israeli sources said this development may be the source of rumors broadcast by Jordan's Radio Ramallah Sunday that U.N. investigators found "French troops" massing on the border.

(In Damascus, Syria's army chief of staff warned that the nation must be increasingly alert to face Israel's "treacherous intentions." Gen. Tewfik Nizameddin told newsmen that Syria dealt Israel a hard blow in last week's fighting.

(But this does not mean the battle is ended," he said. "There may now be an increase in Israel's treacherous intentions. Therefore we should increase our alert."

(He said Syrian border forces were "sufficient to face any further emergency.")

Free Hand Indicated

Premier David Ben-Gurion reported to the cabinet Sunday on the recent border incidents, and political observers believed the cabinet gave him a free hand to initiate strong retaliatory action should new border incidents flare.

It was recalled that Maj. Gen. Moshe Dayan, the Israeli army chief of staff, declared on Friday night the policy of retaliation had worked in the past and would be continued.

Government circles were reported anxious to prevent Syrians from feeling they could get away with anything. But at the same time Israeli officials expressed concern over the "unduly large" build-up of arms and supplies reaching Syria from Russia.

"LOVE THESE JAMBOREES!" — Uncle Otto Hornung, 81 years young, of Detroit, demonstrates to Scout Charles Smith of Los Angeles, the art of making a windy torch during the fourth national Boy Scout Jamboree at historic Valley Forge, Pa. Uncle Otto, who is the oldest of the 50,000 scouts gathered at Valley Forge for the jamboree, has been a scout "ever so long and loves these jamborees."

Scout Jamboree at The Half-way Mark

VALLEY FORGE, Pa. (UP)—More than 50,000 Boy Scouts encamped at historic Valley Forge Park here today reached the halfway point in their fourth national jamboree.

The Scouts played host to an estimated 30,000 visitors Sunday, the largest number to visit the jamboree since it opened Friday. The encampment ends Thursday.

With vehicular traffic kept at a minimum, the visitors roamed the two-thousand acre park on foot, picnicked, chatted with boys from all over the country, and inspected exhibits and elaborate unit gates.

Today's routine program included regional campfire, Valley Forge foot tours, field sports, sectional competitions, and tours of historic sites in Philadelphia.

Sunday Dr. Louis H. Evans, minister at large of the Board of National Missions of the Presbyterian Church, USA told an estimated 35,000 Scouts gathered in the amphitheatre for Protestant services that the world will be theirs "the day after tomorrow".

"My hope for world brotherhood today is that I see you with your arms around the brown men from India, the black boys from Africa and the U.S., the yellow-skinned youth from Japan and the red boys of the Indian prairies," Dr. Evans said.

Freeport Bridge Protest Tonight

FREEPORT, Pa. (UP) — Residents of Freeport will hold a rally tonight protesting failure of the State Highway Department to reopen the Allegheny River Bridge here which was closed as unsafe May 21.

The meeting is being sponsored by the Lions Club and several groups of businessmen. They contend that closing of the Freeport-Garvers span has cut off ambulance service for Allegheny Twp. and has cost merchants business.

Scheduled to attend the rally were state Sen. Albert Pechan and Rep. W. Mack Guthrie.

Three Arrested On Disorderly Conduct Charges

Monessen police made three arrests over the weekend on charges of disorderly conduct.

Picked up were Mike Galamb, 27, of 500 Oneida St.; Stanley Szewczyk, 43, of 400 Chestnut St.; and Frank Rawlins, 29, of 1041 Schoonmaker Ave., all of Monessen. They were each free today after posting $50 bail.

Galamb was arrested Sunday at 4:55 a. m. on a complaint filed by Betty Miller of 14 McKee Ave. She told police someone was trying to force entry into her house through a rear door.

Police found Galamb inside of the house, holding an infant child. He said he had come to take his wife and child home with him. His wife, Dolores, was also in the house at the time, police said.

Szewczyk was picked up Saturday night on a routine patrol by officers. Police said he used derogatory remarks when they questioned him.

Rawlins was arrested yesterday at 12:05 a. m. on a disorderly conduct charge near Ninth St.

At Least 12 Die In Traffic

By UNITED PRESS

Near-perfect summer weather lured thousands of motorists onto Pennsylvania highways during the weekend, but the urge to speed and in some cases just plain carelessness brought the usual results of death and injury.

Between 6 p.m. e.d.t. Friday and last midnight, the United Press counted at least 12 persons killed in traffic accidents. Near Washington, Pa., a young mother and her 10-months-old daughter lost their lives when a carload of picnickers crashed over an embankment.

At Oil City, the police chief of Sugarcreek Twp. was burned to death after his police cruiser was rammed from behind by a speeding car. The gasoline tanks of both vehicles exploded, enveloping the police car in a sheet of fire.

The fatalities:

Washington, Pa.: An automobile in which a Washington County family was returning from a picnic Sunday crashed over an embankment along Route 331, near Claysville, killing Mrs. Frances Tauzel, 25, Washington RD 1, and her daughter, Mary Jo, 10 months. Two sons, John, 2, and Frederick, 4, suffered minor injuries. The father, Fred, 27, who was driving, was unhurt.

Washington, Pa.: Charles T. Williams, 18, Mt. Lebanon, was killed early Sunday when his automobile left a highway near McMurray and plunged over a bank into a creek.

Clearfield: Mrs. Sophie Gisewhite, 62, Clearfield, was killed Sunday when she was struck by an automobile in Lawrence Twp., east of here. Police identified the driver of the car as W. E. Maugana, Altoona.

Brownsville: Harrison Wiseman, 33, Middlefield, Ohio, was injured fatally Sunday when his car crashed into six trees and then ran down a 50-foot embankment. Earlier, Wiseman had been stopped for traveling the wrong way on a one-way street, according to state police.

Grove City: George C. Tice, 28, Pittsburgh, was killed Sunday and a companion injured when the car in which they were riding left Route 108 four miles west of Slippery Rock, struck an embankment and overturned. Tice, who was driving, and Donald Johnson, Mt. Oliver, were both hurled from the machine. Johnson was brought to Grove City Hospital.

Oil City: Sugarcreek Twp. Police Chief Charles McNany, 50, was killed Saturday night when an automobile driven by Norman Reardon, Oil City, crashed into his parked police cruiser and another machine along Route 8. McNany was trapped in his car when the gasoline tanks of the machines exploded. McNany and Patrolman Edwin Johnson had just stopped a traffic violator and Johnson was out of the car questioning him when the crash occurred.

Pittsburgh: William Briston, 10, Braddock, was killed Saturday night when he rode through a traffic signal on his bicycle into the path of an automobile driven by Alfred Spencer, East Pittsburgh.

Pittsburgh: Jack Knighton, Pittsburgh, was killed Saturday night when his automobile struck a utility pole in the Uptown district.

Chester: Herman Jennings, 40, died Saturday in a head-on automobile collision on the Darby Creek Bridge on the Industrial Highway in Tunicum Twp. Two other persons were injured.

Waynesburg: Walter O. Guthrie, 20, Cleveland, was injured fatally Saturday when his automobile hit a bridge abutment along Route 19 three miles north of here. He was thrown from the machine and pinned under it.

Connellsville: Thomas F. Sparks, 21, Indian Head, died Friday night when his automobile left the highway near here and crashed into a tree.

GET PICNIC TICKETS — These four men, along with two others, are handling the ticket sales for Monessen's annual Community Picnic to be held Tuesday, July 30 at Kennywood Park. Richard Pustelak and Carl Chaverin are co-chairmen for the ticket arrangements. They will be assisted by Harry McCraw, George Carlson, Earl Doman and Andy Fordanish. Tickets are on sale at various locations around the City.

Top Circus Act at Community Picnic

Two of the best circus acts of the summer will be presented at Kennywood Park on Tuesday, July 30, for the Monessen Community picnic.

Audiences at the outing will be treated to performances at 4:30 and 9:30 p. m. that day at the Lagoon Stage in Kennywood.

The feature act will be performed by Rietta, one of the world's lost daring girl aerialists.

Rietta performs atop a 150-foot sway pole, and does a variety of tricks that exceed even those done by many of her male counterparts.

She climaxes her breath-taking performance with a "Slide for Life" across the lagoon. Hanging by one foot, Rietta slides upside down along a thin strand of wire, a distance of 200 feet before coming to a stop.

It would be a terrific feat for a man aerialist, but it is almost unheard of for a woman solo performer.

The same thrill shows will have the Four Kovacs, an importation from England. They are the foremost spring bed stars in circusdom.

The Kovacs work with a combination of the world's smallest spring bed and a tower of four tables.

Various balancing and contortionist tricks are performed by these four talented Britishers, including double, full twister and piroutte somersaults. They are truly the masters of the trampoline, and have made numerous television appearances.

District Sokols Win Awards at Ohio Exhibition

A large delegation representing Group 6 Slovak Catholic Sokols returned home early this morning after spending the past three days at the 18th annual national gymnastic track and field meet and calisthenic exhibition at Akron, Ohio.

Honors won by the local group included the women's upper grade calisthenics trophy. Yesterday afternoon after the demonstration in which 26 women from Monessen, Perryopolis and Uniontown took part, a trophy was presented to Mrs. Mary C. Sassak, of Monessen, commandress of the group.

The party of 58 young men and women traveled to Akron by chartered bus and took part in the gymnastic program with 16 delegations from other states. There were 700 Sokols in attendance.

A full three day program was arranged for the meet. It was highlighted by a parade preceding yesterday afternoon's program. A solemn high mass at St. John the Baptist Slovak R. C. Church preceded yesterday's activities.

Local Trinity Church Youth Receives Honors

William H. Lear, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Lear, of Lenawee Ave., has been chosen by the Brotherhood of St. Andrew as the only junior representative of the Pittsburgh Diocese of the Episcopal Church to attend the triennial convention in Colorado Springs, Aug. 27.

Lear will leave by plane to attend this national meeting with all expenses paid by the Brotherhood. He attended a luncheon in Pittsburgh last week to receive full instructions for covering the details of the convention. Religious services, sightseeing trips, social and business sessions will feature the meeting.

The local boy, who is senior acolyte at Trinity Episcopal Church, was selected as the most outstanding applicant in the Diocese on the basis of his service to the church. He is assistant organist, a member of the choir, a Sunday School teacher and active as an officer in the Young Peoples Fellowship. He has been a member of Trinity since infancy.

Lear was graduated with the 1957 class from Monessen High School as co-valedictorian.

Files for Divorce

Isabelle Nandor, of 648 Conrad Ave., North Charleroi, has filed for divorce in Washington County Court, charging "indignities to the person" against Robert Nandor, 1203 Prospect Ave., Charleroi. They were married April 23, 1949.

Clear Way for U. S. Visits to Red China

WASHINGTON (UP) — The way will probably be cleared within the next two weeks or so for American newsmen to enter Red China, authoritative sources said today.

Plans for the long-awaited break through of the "Bamboo Curtain" will be discussed at a meeting here Thursday of news media representatives with Secretary of State John Foster Dulles and Assistant Secretary of State Andrew Berding.

Informed sources said the meeting is expected to result in general agreement leading to abandonment of the State Department's long-standing ban on travel by newsmen to Red China.

Under Heavy Pressure

The department, under heavy pressure from news organizations and members of Congress, has gradually been softening its position on the newsmen ban. Dulles has said recently that if plans could be worked out for a limited number of newsmen to go to China, something might be worked out.

Since then suggestions from various news organizations have been received by the State Department. The majority of these proposals, it was said, favor entry into China of representatives of the 12 U.S. news organizations who had men in China prior to its seizure by the Communists.

A highly - placed department source termed this a "reasonable" proposal and said it is possible something along these lines may be worked out. He emphasized, however, that the final plan "remains to be seen."

Probably One Apiece

The 12 news organizations are the United Press, Associated Press, International News Service, National Broadcasting Co., American Broadcasting Co., Columbia Broadcasting System, New York Times, New York Herald-Tribune, Chicago Tribune, Chicago Daily News, Christian Science Monitor and Time Magainze.

While some of these organizations had more than one representative in China previously, it was expected any new representation probably would be limited to one man apiece.

The chief State Department argument against letting U. S. newsmen enter Red China at present is that the Peiping regime is a "barbarian" government that should not be accorded the recognition and respect due a civilized nation.

Graham Says U. S. Needs Revival

NEW YORK (UP) — Billy Graham told an overflow audience at Madison Square Garden Sunday night that the greatest need in America is not jet planes and atomic weaons but a revival that will shake the country from one-end to the other."

The 8-year-old evangelist addressed an audience of some 19,200 persons only hours after holding a large street-corner rally in Brooklyn.

Will God allow us to see our cities destroyed by push button warfare? I dont know,' Graham said, "God spared not the angels. God spared not the old world except Noah."

Graham said there are a lot of people who think we are God's pets, but "the judgment of God is going to fall upon us unless we repent."

"What if Jesus walked down the streets of New York? He'd be stoned and crucified," Graham declared, "I tell you he shall not spare us unless we repent of our sins and accept Jesus Christ."

Turning to the question of discrimination, Graham admonished his audience that we should speak up when we see the people of one color being discriminated against.'

I don't care what the color of the skin is or the denomination," he said. "Th thing we must do is love one another. The mark of a Christian is love."

Spring months are cooler than the corresponding months of autumn because it takes hot summer sun to warm the earth's crust and the seas and icy wildernesses of the Far North.

Abbott and Costello Break Partnership

HOLLYWOOD (UP)—Comedians Bud Abbott and Lou Costello have decided to part on "friendly terms" after 20 years of being one of Hollywood's top money-making teams, the comics' agent revealed today.

The agent, Eddie Sherman, said Abbott wanted to end the partnership so that he could devote full-time to raising thoroughbreds at his Ojai, Calif., ranch. Sherman said Costello planned to continue as a "single" in movies, nightclubs and on television.

The Right Tool for A Necessary Job

AFTER a delay of almost a full year since the recommendation was first made by the Planning Commission, the Monessen City Council has now introduced and given first reading to a comprehensive housing ordinance.

We do not think Mayor Hugo Parente exaggerates in the least when he describes this legislation as one of the "most progressive steps" ever taken in the history of the city government. And we certainly hope that the Council will enact it promptly and put it to work aggressively.

If this is done, Monessen can begin to check the physical blight that has set in, particularly in the older sections of the city.

The ordinance, as it was introduced Friday, is admittedly a tough one. It has to be tough to be effective, and the enforcement will have to be just as tough.

Anyone who reads this proposal will quickly recognize that a great many structures in Monessen do not now meet its standards. And very likely a considerable number of buildings and homes cannot be brought up to the new standards and will have to be eliminated. Many are certainly going to require major alterations and improvements.

So we should not fool ourselves about this ordinance. If it is properly enforced, it will produce some radical changes in present housing conditions in Monessen. And these changes will be costly to many property owners.

But there is no alternative to this action if Monessen is to be saved from obsolescence and decay. In fact, the deterioration is already well advanced, and every month that passes without remedial action makes the job that much more difficult and costly.

The Planning Commission had been at work only a few months when it recognized the need and made its recommendations to the Council. The Commission properly sees that there is not much use talking about future community improvements until the city government has fashioned the legal tools and mustered the determination needed to stop the blight.

The Well-fed Lawn

EDITORS of the Wall Street Journal have come up with a midsummer statistic that is one of those rare, illuminating insights into this more or less mixed-up world. This year, they say, American suburban home owners will dump about two million tons of fertilizer on their patches of lawn.

"Dump" of course is not the word, and all its rude implications are hereby withdrawn. The home owner who cares for his home at all cares for it with the tenderness of a true amateur. He does not dump fertilizer. He feeds experimentally each blade of grass, often killing each individually with kindness and nitrogen.

Everyone knows the type who spends every evening on his hands and knees plucking weeds from his lawn with the intense devotion of a pup hunting fleas. His lawn is forever spotted with brown memorials to the places where weeds once greenly flourished.

Another lawn amateur refuses as a matter of pride, as well as lumbago, to bend over. He has all the latest liquid fertilizers, which he sprays on at his ease — or he would, that is, if he could settle on the best one and end his perpetual tinkering with hoses, sprinklers and formulae.

Although the Wall Street Journal tactfully does not say so, there is a strong implication that the profits of the burgeoning $150 million lawn fertilizer business comes not from well-fed grass but from the wasteful enthusiasms of the suburbanite. He will try anything new, if only to be able to hold his own in neighborhood conversation.

Yet this is a waste one should neither regret nor blush for. Many have observed how the suburbs move like a pestilence over the once fertile land. Should it not be small comfort at least to note that man invading nature arrives not only with bulldozer but with mulch, manure, a packet of seed and a passionate wish to make blue grass grow where only chickweed grew before?

It's Simpler Here

PITTSBURGH is having another ruckus about its police department.

The story goes that a well known numbers racketeer got a lump on the head and was arrested all in the same evening. But nobody seems to know how or by whom the lump was applied.

Another angle they're trying to clear up is why this man, who would presumably be familiar to any alert policeman in Pittsburgh, should be booked at the police station under an assumed name.

The whole affair seems to suggest that the Pittsburgh police have muffed another case involving the city's underworld.

This sort of thing couldn't happen in Monessen, however, since a much simpler system prevails here. Our police just don't arrest racketeers — period.

Merry-Go-Round—

Gen. Sarnoff Urges More Propaganda

By DREW PEARSON

NEW YORK — When I entered his office, Gen. David Sarnoff, chairman of the Radio Corporation of America, was talking on the phone to another famous New Yorker, Bernard Baruch, aged 86.

Mr. Pearson

"You've got to look ahead, Bernie," he chided. "You're just a youngster. Don't worry about the atomic energy. Before it can operate industry we'll have solar energy.

"Why should man dig down into the bowels of the earth for oil, coal, and uranium when he has sunlight right on top of the earth — the energy that not only gives heat but makes plants grow?

"Look ahead, young man," Sarnoff joshed his venerable freind. "Solar energy is the thing to invest your money in."

Both Baruch and Sarnoff, of course, have made fortunes and reputations by looking ahead. Baruch has probably looked further ahead into the economics of America than any other man of his time, while Sarnoff has looked further ahead into the electronics of America.

To hear Sarnoff talk, however, you wouldn't think he had done very much.

"The two foundation stones of the universe," he told me, "are the atom and the electron. They are like cement and building stone to our modern life. And the amazing thing is that though they have been in the universe for the six billion years that there's been a universe, we've only put them to use in about the last ten years.

"Why?" he asked. Obviously I didn't answer.

World's Greatest Age

"I happen to believe," he continued, "that we have a Divine Being who looks over us. Why did He withhold this discovery from us until now? It wasn't because He favored and trusted Drew Pearson and David Sarnoff and our generation more than the others. No, in my opinion our civilization has reached a climax — a climax when we have more opportunity for the future, more chance to prevent war than any other period in history — partly because the weapons created by the atom and the electron are so terrible.

"We live in the greatest age in the world!" continued the man who has helped develop some of the great secrets of this age. "We have an opportunity hitherto unknown to man.

"If Russia and the United States can make peace, then there will be peace in the world. If the United States and Russia can't get along together, then there will be war. That's why I consider the developments in Russia today so important."

I had dropped in to talk to General Sarnoff about a subject I have been harping on so much that I suspect people get bored — getting behind the Iron Curtain to win over the Russian people. I figured that he, as one of the nation's pioneers in radio and television, might have important ideas on how we could take advantage of the current upheaval in the Kremlin.

He considered the Kremlin purge and especially the emergence of Marshal Zhukov a great break for the West, but added:

"We've been losing the cold war. I once told Eisenhower that, according to our present policy, either we freeze to death in the cold war or we burn to death in a hot war. But actually we don't have to do either. We can win the cold war. The only trouble is that democracies don't understand the art of waging a propaganda war. If a hot war comes they don't shrink from casualties, but they don't realize the importance of heading off that war with non-military means."

Winning the Cold War

"How should we win the cold war?" I asked.

"No. 1," Sarnoff replied, "we should spend one-tenth of our military budget on the propaganda weapons of the cold war. Instead, we spend only a fraction. We don't realize that no investment to win the cold war is exorbitant measured against the cost of a bombing war that we want to prevent.

"Second, I would set up a Strategy Board for Political Defense equivalent to the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

"Third, though we now have a Voice of America, which is doing a pretty good job, we should change the name to 'Voice of America — for Freedom and Peace.'

"We should remember that words that are not backed up by deeds lose their impact. We should preach faith in the Divine, how to observe religious occasions. There is a great hunger for spiritual comfort behind the Iron Curtain. And we've been neglecting it."

The Civil Rights Debate

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND

We are today witnessing the most meaningful and productive debate on civil rights that has marked the deliberations of the Senate in years.

It is premature to try to forecast unqualifiedly the end result. On the basis of the opening stages of this historic debate three conclusions emerge:

Mr. Drummond

1 — The opponents of the civil rights bill have devoted themselves to discussing the issues on their merits and have thus far refrained from abusing the precious right of extended debate. The argument as been relevant and in the main carried on in good spirit. Later the temptations to depart from this course will increase.

2 — The Southern Democratic opponents are already exerting a substantial impact on the shape of the legislation that may ultimately come. Everyone close to the scene knows that their purpose is to defeat the whole bill, but it is my conviction that the Southerners deserve credit for forcing its opponents to take a second and third look at its provisions. The result will almost certainly be some clarifying and moderating amendment.

3 — From conversations with leaders on both sides the present outlook is this — without clarifying and moderating amendmets, it is very doubtful that the bill can pass; with such amendments, it is quite probable that the bill will pass.

Changes Proposed

Three amendments now are in the making and after the vote putting the bill before the Senate they will undoubtedly come to the surface.

One amendment would have the effect of affirming that the new legislation in no way authorizes the use of troops to enforce decisions of the courts. The Justice Department and the advocates of the bill hold that there is no purpose to such a disclaimer since this bill neither adds to nor subtracts from the authority of the President to use troops in the last resort to enforce the judicial process. However, there would be no resistance to making this point doubly clear.

Another amendment which will be considered would strike from the bill any authority for the federal government to enter civil suits bearing upon the integration of the public schools. Since the implementation of the Supreme Court decision now is in the jurisdiction of the federal district courts, there will be many in the Senate who will deem it premature to extend the role of the Department of Justice into this field.

A third amendment would bear upon jury trials for persons held in violation of a court injunction. Historically injunction proceedings have not involved jury trials, but a compromise is being discussed which would prescribe trial by jury when matters of fact, rather than law, were primarily at issue.

The second and third of these amendments would obviously narrow the scope and force of the legislation. But its heart and center would remain. That is to secure and bring to reality the most fundamental right of American citizens, the right of all to vote under the same terms and qualifications.

These amendments would, in the judgment of its supporters, make the bill as moderate as President Eisenhower has been describing it. They would strip from the bill the objections which its critics have been raising most strenuously and would leave it dealing with a civil right which even opponents of the bill rarely question openly — the right of all citizens to vote on equal terms.

There are some who make a point of saying that there is no constitutionally-guaranteed provision that every citizen has the right to vote. That is true and the present civil rights bill does not assume nor assert that it is otherwise. The right which this legislation aims to protect is that the voting qualifications shall be applied to all citizens equally, that there shall be no discrimination.

Not many opponents of the bill argue against this proposition. They only argue that they don't want the federal government acting to guarantee this right. But it should not be overlooked that the proposed right-to-vote legislation deals only with voting for the nomination and election of federal candidates.

There will be some who will feel that this is an overly moderate act in behalf of equality in the right to vote. However, this is the first time in 90 years that significant civil rights legislation has come even near to being enacted.

Britain Attempts New Solution for Cyprus

By CHARLES M. McCANN

Great Britain is preparing to make a new and determined attempt to settle the long dispute over the future of Cyprus.

Details have been under discussion in London for a week by the cabinet, defense chiefs and Field Marshal Sir John Harding, governor and commander in chief of the island.

Mr. McCann

Several possible solutions have been considered.

One would put Cyprus under control of an international body, possibly these North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Another would give the 500,000 people of the eastern Mediterranean island independence, preferably as a unit of the British Commonwealth.

But it is certain that no solution Britain decides upon will call for the union of Cyprus with Greece, which demands it.

Considers Partitioning

Britain has considered partitioning the island between its two ethnic elements, the 400,000 islanders of Greek racial stock and the 100,000 Turkish inhabitants.

The interested parties in the dispute, which has kept Cyprus under emergency rule for more than two years because of Greek Cypriote terrorism, are Britain, Turkey and Greece.

Britain is willing to give the islanders self-rule. Turkey does not want the island. It is willing to accept partition, but has announced that in no circumstances will it permit the Turkish Cypriotes to come under domination of either the Greek government or the Greek islanders. Both Greece and Orthodox Archbishop Makarios of Cyprus, who represented the Greek islanders, have rejected the partition proposal.

Makarios, who is now in Athens, has refused to enter any negotiations which involve Turkey. He has said, with the approval of the Greek government, that the future of Cyprus is a matter for negotiation solely between Britain and him, as the representative of Greek Cypriotes.

On the basis of the various statements made, the Cyprus issue seems to be still in the deadlock stage.

But Britain seems to believe a solution may now be possible.

There is talk in London of the possibility of a British-Greek-Turkish conference. It is possible that Paul Henri Spaak, new secretary general of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization, may be called in to help arrange such a conference. Saak, a former Belgian premier and foreign minister, is one of the most highly respected statesmen in Europe.

Importance Diminishes

Cyprus at present is Britain's chief Mediterranean military base. But the Suez Canal dispute and Britain's new defense policy have diminished its strategic importance.

Defense Minister Duncan Sandys has recommended that Kenya, on the East African coast, be made the new base for British ground forces in the Middle East. If that happened, Cyprus would become a joint British-NATO air base, with facilities for nuclear bomber planes.

One thing seems essential. That is, that any solution will have to be acceptable to Turkey as well as Greece. Turkey, which ruled Cyprus before Britain took it over in 1878, says Cyprus ought to be Turkish if it is not to remain British. It points out first that Greece never has ruled Cyprus and secondly that though the island is 4 miles from the Turkish mainland it is more than 500 miles from the Greek mainland.

National Affairs—

Closed Shop Law May Reach Supreme Court

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON (UP)—The state of Georgia has invited the U.S. Supreme Court to reconsider its ruling that closed shop union agreements can be enforced in violation of state law.

The question arose in Georgia in the case of Looper and others against the Georgia Southern & Florida Railway Co. Looper and his associate petitioners are railway employes. They were notified that under terms of the Federal Railway Labor Act they must within 60 days join a labor union or forfeit their jobs.

Mr. Wilson

This closed shop provision has been made effective by the U.S. Supreme Court in all states, including those which have enacted "right to work" laws outlawing the closed shop.

The Supreme Court of Georgia expressed its deep distress at being compelled to follow the U.S. Supreme Court's lead. But it found comfort in a new avenue of attack against the closed shop.

Complain Of Membership

Looper and his associates complained that compulsory union membership compelled them also, to contribute unwillingly to political activities of which they disapproved.

"It is alleged," the Georgia court said in its unanimous opinion, "that the union dues and other payments they will be required to make to the union will be used to 'support ideological and political doctrines and candidates' which they are unwilling to support and in which they do not believe."

It said this would violate the First, Fifth and Ninth amendments to the Constitution.

Ruling for the petitioning railway workers, the Georgia court said:

"We do not believe one can constitutionally be compelled to contribute money to support ideas, politics and candidates which he opposes. We believe his right to immunity from such exactions is superior to any claim the union may make on him."

Magazine Comments

Noting the opinion, given last June 10, the right wing weekly magazine "National Review" commented:

"The Supreme Court of Georgia has, in effect, told a number of local railway workers that they need only to prove the political use of union funds to sustain the right to non-unionized employment.

"This poses a nice question for Chief Justice Earl Warren's court in Washington. We await the fireworks that must inevitably result when Justices Hugo L. Black and William O. Douglas and the others are faced with the words of the Georgia court."

Movie producer Cecil B. De Mille went to court on such an issue in 1945. De Mille refused to pay a $1 assessment levied by the American Federation of Radio Artists. The levy was to provide a fund to oppose an effort in California to outlaw the closed shop.

De Mille was suspended by the union. In January, 1945, Superior Court Judge Emmet H. Wilson ruled against De Mille, holding that the producer must pay up to remain in the union. The judge said the use to which the levied fund would be put was not political.

Mary A. Ostetrico Weds M. Evancho

Mary Agnes Ostetrico, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Ostetrico, 1014 Brown St., Belle Vernon, became Mrs. Michael Evancho in a nuptial service solemnized on Saturday, July 13. Mr. Evancho is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Evancho, 631 Summit Ave.

Their marriage took place at 10:30 a. m. in St. Mary's Greek Catholic Church with the pastor, the Rev. John Gaspar, officiating.

Fern, white gladiolus and white carnations decorated the church altar and the aisle used by the bridal party was lined with white crash.

White embroidered nylon was chosen by the bride for her attire and she entered the church with her father, who gave her in marriage. The fitted bodice was styled with a sabrina neckline and her full tiered skirt was floor length. Her shoulder length veil of nylon net was held to a half hat trimmed with orange blossoms. She carried a white bridal bouquet.

Matron of Honor

Matron of honor was Dolores Hayduk, sister of the bride, who wore a pale blue chiffon gown styled with a fitted bodice and full skirt. She wore a harmonizing floral wreath in her hair and carried a colonial bouquet. The bridesmaid was Lois Ann Lee, a friend of the bride, who wore a similar ensemble in pale green.

John Evancho, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Julius Ostetrico, brother of the bride, was the usher.

Mrs. Ostetrico chose to wear a pale blue dress of Italian silk for her daughter's wedding. She wore white accessories and a pink carnation corsage. Mrs. Evancho wore a light blue linen dress with dark blue accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

Dinner and Reception

After the ceremony there was a wedding dinner served at Johnson's restaurant, and later friends and relatives were received there at a reception. A four tiered wedding cake flanked with two baskets of pink gladiolus decorated the bridal table.

Out of town guests attended from Pittsburgh, McKeesport, Turtle Creek, Akron, Geauga Lake and Lima, Ohio.

When Mr. and Mrs. Evancho left for their wedding trip to Ohio the bride was wearing a white and black ensemble with white accessories. They will reside in Akron, Ohio, after July 21.

The bride was graduated in 1952 from Rostraver Township High School and from Mercy Hospital School of Nursing, Pittsburgh, in 1955. The bridegroom was graduated from Monessen High School in 1948 and attended Penn State Technical School.

Valley Chapter Of DAR Plans Card Party

Plans have been made by the Monongahela Valley Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution for a card party to be held on Wednesday, July 31. It will be held at Century Inn, Scenery Hill.

Proceeds will be used for the benefit of the chapter room at Fort Necessity museum, Route 40, near Uniontown.

Reservations may be made with Frances Williams, who will serve as ticket chairman, or Mrs. O. C. Taylor.

Mrs. Kenyon Nichol, of Ellsworth is regent of the chapter and she has named Mrs. Arthur Frazier, of Bentleyville and Mrs. Taylor, of Monongahela as co-chairmen of the party, which is open to chapter members and their friends.

St. Cajetan Parish Picnic Set Tomorrow

A parish picnic has been planned for the members of St. Cajetan R. C. Church tomorrow at Rainbow Gardens, near McKeesport. Bus transportation will be provided for those having no way to get to the park.

Buses will leave from in front of the church at 11 a. m. and 1 p. m. and a special bus has been arranged for 5:30 p. m. for working people, who plan to spend the evening at the park.

The Rev. Leonard Sanesi is in charge of the outing. A program of races and contests will be conducted between 4 and 5 o'clock and prizes will be given.

All amusements will be available to the picnickers including the swimming pool and skating rink.

Mrs. Anthony C. Bucich
(Carole Alberta Zoretic)

Zoretic-Bucich Nuptials Solemnized at St. Dominic

Wed in St. Dominic R. C. Church of Donora, Saturday, June 29, were Carole Alberta Zoretich and Anthony C. Bucich. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Zoretic, of North Charleroi, and the bridegroom is the son of Andrew Bucich, of Donora and the late Mrs. Bucich.

White gladiolus and fern decorated the church altar before which the couple exchanged vows. The Rev. Joseph Kushner, church pastor, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gown of white imported Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over taffeta. It was fashioned with a fitted bodice, sabrina neckline and a full skirt of lace. Pearls and crystal sequins accented the neckline and a wide cummerbund joined the bodice and skirt. Her fingertip veil of illusion fell from a coronation crown of seed pearls, sequins and rhinestones. She carried a Prayer Book topped with two orchids and satin shower streamers knotted with lilies of the valley. Her jewelry was a pair of earrings, a gift of the bridegroom.

Charmaine Zoretic, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Anne Sedlar, of Carnegie, Carole Ann Adamic, of Cleveland and Florence Kocevar, cousin of the bride.

Their gowns were all styled of chiffon, chapel length with shirred fitted bodice, sabrina neckline and full skirt. Long fly-away panels provided the back interest. The honor attendant wore light blue and carried a spray of dark blue carnations tied with pink ribbon. The bidesmaids wore pink and carried carnations of a darker pink tied with blue. They all wore matching tiaras with short veils trimmed with seed pearls.

Donald Bucich, brother of the bridegroom, was best man. Ushers were Thomas Triscik and Frank Ceccone, of Donora and Karl Kocevar, cousin of the bride.

The mother of the bride wore a beige silk print with white accessories and a pink rose corsage. Mrs. Stephen Matava, sister of the bridegroom, wore aqua lace with white accessories and a corsage of yellow rosebuds.

A wedding dinner for the immediate families was held at the Croatian Club, Donora. A four tiered wedding cake, presented to the couple by Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mollis, of Charleroi, was used as the centerpiece.

There were about 300 guests entertained at an evening reception at the Croatian Club.

After the reception the couple left for a trip to Canada. The bride's traveling ensemble was a two piece pink cotton satin suit with white accessories and a white orchid corsage.

The bride was graduated from Charleroi High School in 1952 and from Allegheny General Hospital School of Nursing, Pittsburgh. She is presently a member of the Charleroi - Monessen Hospital nursing staff. Mr. Bucich was graduated from Donora High School in 1952. He served four years in the U. S. Navy and now works at the Combustion Engineering plant in East Monongahela.

Mr. and Mrs. Bucich will reside in their newly furnished apartment in North Charleroi.

A rehearsal party was held at the home of the bride's parents the evening before the ceremony. The bride was honored at several pre-nuptial parties held by friends.

Beatrice Kamenicky Wins Second Place in State C. D. of A. Poetry Contest

Beatrice Kamenicky, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Kamenicky, of 1533 Grand Blvd., was a winner on the state level of the poetry contest being sponsored by the Catholic Daughters of America. She is a fourth grade student at Holy Name Schoo.

The Monessen Court of the Catholic Daughters of America sponsored a local contest in cooperation with the state and national C.D. of A. groups. The contest featured original poetry with a Catholic theme.

Local Contestants

In the local contest there were 45 students from St. Leonard School, 86 from Holy Name and 21 from St. Hyacinth taking part. These studehts were permitted to enter the competition on the first and second levels for students of the fourth, fifth, sixth, seventh, eighth and ninth grades.

From the local entries the following winners were selected, first division, Beatrice Kamenicky, first; James Saxon, a sixth grade student from St. Leonard, second; Mathias Keefer, a sixth grade student from St. Leonard, third.

Winners in the second division were Stella Reday, seventh grade student at Holy Name, first; Harry Vernet, eighth grade student at St. Leonard, second; Dorothy Doty, seventh grade student at Holy Name, third.

High School Winner

Judy Todaro, a Monessen High School student, submitted a winner on the high school level.

All of the poems written by these students were then sent on to the state C. D. of A. The poem written by Beatrice Kamenicky was adjudged the second winner in the first division. It will be submitted in national competition.

Social Event For Women at Country Club

Golf and bridge followed the luncheon held by the Women's Golf Association of the Monongahela Valley Country Club, Thursday afternoon, at the club.

Bridge winners included Mrs. C. S. Bailey, Forest Hills, Pittsburgh; Mrs. Charles S. Thomas, Donora; Mrs. Joseph Arrigo, Allenport; Mrs. Ella Mager, Monessen; Mrs. Franklin A. Stephens, Mrs. David Aubrey, Mrs. C. B Lamp, Mrs. H. W. McKinley, Mrs. Arnold Miale and Mrs. John Conte, of Monongahela.

Golf winners were Mrs. J. Scott Skelly, 89-13-76 and Mrs. F. N. Parent, Charleroi, 90-12-78, in the first division. Second division winners were Susie Williams, Monessen, 114-40-74 and Mrs. Harry R. Pore, Jr., Monessen, 116-39-77.

Mrs. Skelly, co-chairman of the association conducted a brief business session during luncheon.

Plans were made for the annual Guest Day, Thursday, July 25, and for the dessert bridge set for Aug. 8. The latter event is open to the public.

'Speaking of Beauty'

"Home Permanents"

By James V. Bonafed

So you gave yourself a home permanent wave . . . in spite of all our warnings. And it just didn't turn out right. Next time you'll get a professional beauty salon wave, of course. But . . . what can you do with your hair . . . and looks?

-o-

We'll do our very best to trim the damaged ends . . . give you special treatments to help restore your hair to health and beauty. And we'll restyle your hair the most becoming way possible!

-o-

Grey or white hair often turns "pink" or "yellow" on the ends after a home wave. We can use a special rinse on your hair to hide the ugly tinge. If the hair is damaged we may use a series of special conditioning treatments. We'll trim off the unsightly, discoloured ends and give you a smart new hair style.

-o-

Hair that breaks off in scattered areas near your scalp, after a home wave, is a problem indeed! You probably didn't wrap your hair correctly or moisten it evenly. Why not trust our eyes, instead of your loving but inexperienced hands? Take heart . . . we'll start at once to revitalize your hair. We'll show you how you can help your hair at home between salon visits.

-o-

If your hair is lifeless, dull and limp after a home wave . . . the corrective action we will take depends on the health of your hair. We wouldn't think of rewaving your hair until we have reconditioned it. But . . . we can give you a new, easy to manage style while your hair is coming back to health. And we'll recommend a special hair spray to keep your coiffure neat till you are ready for a professional wave.

-o-

Never, but nevery try to rewave your own hair after a bad home permanent. This can lead to disastrous results. Let us analyze your hair and give it proper care. Remember always . . . you have only one head of hair. Everyone sees it, every day. It's worth the very best of care!

Football In the Air Already

Despite the fact that the first 1957 valley game won't be played until sometime in early September, football talk is very much in the air at this early date with the announcement of All-Star squads for the various pre-season classics . . . Speaking of football, Bellmar's stock would rise somewhat if a promising first-year quarterback changes his mind about giving up the grid sport for personal reasons . . . Staying in a football vein, we noticed that Rab Currie of Charleroi and Jeannette's Markley Barnes will have an opportunity to match wits again in the Pittsburgh Jaycee tilt, Currie assisting Stan Milanovich of Aliquippa with the County team, Barnes as head tutor of the West Penn team.

Harness Racing Next On Anti-Trust List?

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP) — Harness racing, one of the nation's fastest growing sport, watched intently today as a quiet little man with a fighting glint in his eyes battled a "boycott" at Yonkers Raceway which may make the trotting sport the next federal anti-trust target.

"This action unquestionably is inspired by the U.S. Trotting Assn.," declared Martin Tananbaum, Yonkers president, "nor is there any question but what the USTA is basically in violation of anti-trust laws.

"The USTA is composed of bullies and dictators," Tananbaum charged. "Everybody who has tried to buck this monopolistic group has been run out of the sport—but we will not quit with a gun at our heads and will defeat them because of their own greed."

Began Last Spring

The hassle started last spring when Yonkers attempted to pick up a three-year option on a three-year contract with the Standard-bred Owners Assn., composed of trotting owners. A new agreement was reached but the SOA refused to approve the decision of its own committee.

One of the reasons was that the 1956 New York Legislature passed a construction rebate bill for tracks trying to expand. The owners demanded that instead of purses being made up of 35 per cent of the track's retention of the pari - mutuel betting, they now should get 45 per cent — plus 45 per cent of the construction money.

Yonkers two weeks ago obtained an injunction preventing the SOA from acting in concert to withdraw their horses. They were told, however, by their attorney that they could withdraw individually.

"They didn't think of the little owners," Tananbaum charges. "But on Monday all the big owners — acting 'individually' — had their vans all lined up in a procession and took off.

Invade Small Tracks

"But their own greed has beaten them," he added. "Instead of going to their farms, they invaded the small tracks and began to pick up the purses which keep the little fellows going. So now the little fellows are coming here."

"I will venture to predict that the USTA will be investigated under the anti-trust laws and found guilty," Tananbaum asserts. "It is a private Ohio corporation which has a death grip on the sport. It is about time it was challenged."

That it will be seems certain because Rep. Emanuel Celler, a New York Democrat, already has asked the U.S. attorney general's office to make an investigation. Meanwhile, the small owners are getting a crack at the big purses and the fans are flocking back.

PARIS (UP) — Den Haan, girl swimming star from the Netherlands, equalled her world record of two minutes, 52.6 seconds for the 200 - meter backstroke while winning a race during Sunday's Grand Prix de Paris meet.

Local Little Leaguers in Playoffs

Charleroi Nine Here Tonight

Currently riding the crest of a three-game winning streak the Monessen Ozarks of the Mon Valley League host Charleroi's Merchants here tonight at Ninth Street Park at 6 o'clock.

Bolstered by the clutch-hitting of old reliables like Neil Hill and newcomers like Ron Campbell plus the return to form of pitchers like Bruce Pezzelle, the locals have shown signs of climbing right up to a playoff berth. They now rest in fifth with a .500 mark of 15-15.

A win tonight would go a long way toward cutting down that one-game margin fourth place Donora holds over the Ozarks, with a 15-13 record.

Charleroi currently rests in second-place behind Fayette City, the leaders with a 21-5 mark, the Merchants sporting a 20-8 chart.

Other games on tap for tonight call for Perry to travel to Fayette City, Donora to host New Eagle and Van Voorhis to entertain West Newton.

Tomorrow night's card has two postponed games on tap, West Newton at Charleroi and New Eagle at Fayette City.

More Surprises Seen in Arden Downs Racing

There may be more surprises tomorrow night when the Pittsburgh Racing Association drivers run at Washington Raceway.

Dick Linder shocked the crowd winning last week's feature. It wasn't the fact that Dick won — because it was his fourth feature victory there this season. It was because Dick was driving Buddy O'Connor's car and only a handful realized Linder was behind the wheel until he crossed the finish line.

Now Rusty Whiteman figures on winning this week — which would be a surprise because he has only won one race this season and that was at Heidelberg. But it would be a pleasant surprise for the Arden Downs fans since Rusty hails from Washington and is a local favorite.

And Rusty isn't just dreaming. He brought out a new car last week and already has impressed fans at the other tracks on the PRA circuit.

Herb Scott and Linder, of course, still are leading in the PRA point standings. They'll be the men to beat when the 8:30 p. m. race time rolls around.

Mon-Yough Stars Top Pittsburgh Nine, 1-0

Tuning up for their District 8 Prep League playoff with Big Sewickley at Youngwood tonight at 6 o'clock, the Mon-Yough Prep League All-Stars defeated 14th Ward of Pittsburgh, 1-0 Saturday at Charleroi High Stadium.

Pitching

Terrific pitching by Harold Snowden of Smithton-Jacobs Creek, Bill Tracey of Scottdale, Bill Kraynak of West Newton and Bud Morrison of Smithton, featured the game as they held the Pittsburghers to one hit.

The Mon-Yough nine was able to get only three blows off the visitors but the locals bunched them for the lone run in the third when Lenny Rechichar of Smithton, Tracey and Timmy Lee of Charleroi singled in succession.

Only Hit

Murphy of Pittsburgh singled for the only 14th Ward hit in the sixth.

The four Mon-Yough hurlers fanned 13 batters, Morrison and Tracey four each.

The Mon-Yough team is composed of players from Belle Vernon, Scottdale, Charleroi, Smithton-Jacobs Creek and Scottdale leagues.

Bayer Credits Ted Kroll for Victory

KITCHENER, Ont. (UP)—Mighty George Bayer, golf's biggest hitter, gives Ted Kroll a large slice of the credit for his maiden victory Saturday in the Canadian Open championship.

"It was his help with my irons that has helped me more than anything," Bayer said, referring to some instruction Kroll offered the golfing goliath at the Carling Open at Flint, Mich., four weeks ago.

Bayer, a six-foot-five, 240-pounder who played pro ootball briefly with the Washington Redskins, finished two strokes in front of graying Bo Wininger with a 72-hole score of 27. Wininger, the Odessa, Tex., pro making his best showing in more than a year, fired a six-under-par 65 that left him just short of Bayer.

Brickner Enroute To London

Vowing he'll be the first Pennsylvanian ever to swim the English Channel, Gus Brickner, Charleroi steelworker, left at 11:10 o'clock yesterday morning from Greater Pittsburgh Airport for London, England to begin training for the Channel crossing attempt.

Life-Long Dream

A life-long dream thus comes true for the 41-year-old Gus, who claims the title of National Cold Water Swimming Champion — his chance to try and conquer the famous channel.

He was scheduled to arrive in London at 11:10 o'clock this morning and then leave for Dover. He will train either at Dover or Calais, France, depending on his trainer, Edward Temme of England, who conquered the Channel twice, in 1921 and again in 1925.

Gus' big moment almost never came for sponsors who had originally promised to back his attempt, backed out a few weeks back just as Brickner had completed preparations for the trip.

W. C. Falconer, a Pittsburgh trucking contractor came to Gus' rescue, promising to pay about half of the expenses. This offer plus Brickner's savings and what fans contributed, made the trip possible.

Fan Fare

The valley native was given considerable fan fare via Pittsburgh newspapers, TV and radio prior to taking off yesterday.

Gus plans his attempt for sometime in August.

Salem-Ippolito Bout At St. Nick's Tonight

NEW YORK (UP) — Betting is at "even money" for tonight's TV 10 - rounder between lightweights Tommy Salem of Cleveland and Frankie Ippolito of New York at St. Nicholas Arena.

Each is fast and aggressive although a comparatively light puncher. And each had hard luck in his last bout. Ippolito, 23, lost a split decision to unbeaten Stefan Redl at St. Nick's, June 3. Referee Al Berl favored Frankie, 5-4-1, and so did many fans.

Salem, 24, was beating Walter Brown handily in Madison Square Garden, March 8, when he suffered a cut brow and lost to Brown on a seventh-round TKO.

Hoad Opens Pro Career With 'Bang'

FOREST HILLS, N.Y. (UP) — Lew Hoad opened his pro tennis career the way the ocean surf hits the beaches of his native Sydney—with a bang.

Hoad, earning the first chunk of the record $125,000 contract he acceled from romoter Jack Kramer last week, featured Sunday's lay in the Tournament of Champions by whiing Frank Sedgman, 6-3, 6-4, 6-4. It was one of the most impressive debuts in the history of the pro game.

Sedgmans game doesn't match that of Pancho Gonzales, the pro champion. But Frank, 29, is an experienced pro and was expected to give his young Australian countryman a bitter tussle.

British tennis experts rated Hoads 56-minute title triumph at Wimbledon July 5 as one of the finest in the history of that classic. Lew stunned Sedgman and surprised Kramer by showing the same booming service and net attack Sunday.

Gonzales, who had threatened not to play in the $10,000 round-robin tournament if Hoad was an entry, opened his bid for the $2,000 first money by defeating Tony Trabert of Cincinnati, Ohio, 6-,3 3-6, 11-9, 6-3.

Americans Host Glassport; Nats Battle McKeesport

Both of Monessen's Little League All-Star teams swing into playoff action tonight in District 8 competition.

The National Division "Stars" host the McKeesport entry in a 6:15 o'clock tilt at the Stadium as the American Division nine battles Glassport at the Annex also a 6:15 clash.

First Tests

McKeesport and the local nines will be getting their first test of playoff action this season while Glassport has the jump on the others having defeated Donora's All-Stars Friday, 7-1.

Alex Karenchak, who pilots the CIO nine in Monessen's National League will guide the National nine, assisted by Don Skekel, Elks' manager.

The Americans will go into action against McKeesport under the guidance of George Bonari, and James Caputo, both of the VFW nine here.

Members of the respective local squads include:

NATIONALS

Eton Karenchak, Terry DelRosso, Vaughn Williams, Ralph Nuzzaci, and John Tobar, of CIO: Thomas Maatta, Edwin Kilpela, Larry Davis, William Tansmore and George Katsuleris, of the Elks; Frank Destefano, John Kachmarik and Richard Kunca of the Lions; and Claude Garry of the Legion.

The alternates will be William Bass of the Legion and Frank Chiprich of the Lions.

AMERICANS

VFW — James Beeler, Myron Ciepley, Gerald Harter, John Sivie, Richard Steele, Carl Stevenson.

Ravens — Paul Barton, Gerald Francis and John Tweardy.

Park Service — James Coccara, Bruce Nedrow and Thomas Hotz.

Alternates — Leenard Vagnoni, (Page Local) James Saxton, (Park Service).

The official scorer for the Nats will be Chester Hotz.

Cougar Coaches Deny Reports Of Fisticuffs

An alleged fight between Charleroi athletic coaches Rab Currie and Jim (Toots) Fillingham came out into the open today although the principals involved claim there was nothing to it.

When reached for comment on trading blows recently at Charleroi Stadium, Cougar grid boss Currie reportedly said "It was just an argument, there was a little pushing around but no damage done." Reports, however, claim Currie suffered broken dentures.

Fillingham, baseball coach at Charleroi, said, "I'd rather not discuss it."

There were rumors of an investigation by the school board there but Board President T. H. Breuer said, "We know nothing about it and there will be no investigation."

DOCTORING YOUR GOLF

By CARY MIDDLECOFF

Natural Slump

Golf has its ups and downs. For a while you'll be going along great, cutting down your score a little almost every time out. Then, all of a sudden, you've lost it. Don't let this throw you. It happens to all golfers.

One frequent cause of these slumps is that the player will be concentrating on some phase of the later part of his swing. In so doing, he'll ignore some vital phase in the early stages. And by committing an error in the early stages, the finish of the swing is ruined.

But whatever the cause of the slump, the only effective treatment is practice. Examine your swing, starting with the grip. Stay with it — and don't give up!

Second Round Play Completed For MVCC Cup

Completion of first round play for the President's Trophy at Monongahela Valley Country Club and kicker's events highlighted the golf action there over the weekend.

Club Pro Frank Bruno announced that third round cup play must be completed by August 3.

It was also announced over the weekend that the Monongahela and Washington Country Clubs would engage in an inter-club match next Sunday on the Monongahela course.

Marion Venturi took low gross honors in Saturday's kickers' event while Ray Campbell won Sunday's honors, Venturi shot a 77, Campbell a 75.

Results of President's Cup Play follow:

George Fegela defeated Mike Underwood, 1 up, 18 holes.

H. D. Teal defeated K. M. Linger, 1 up, 18 holes.

Bucs Bow In 9-6, 12-4 Pastings

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates drew a day off today after a rough Sunday afternoon in which the Cincinnati Redlegs buffeted them with 33 hits for a total of 51 bases to sweep a double-header at Forbes Field, 9-6, and 12-4.

The Pirates return to action Tuesday against the Chicago Cubs here. They will play off a June 16 game, which was halted in the seventh inning by the Sunday curfew law with the score 4-4, and then go into a regular game.

Residents of New Castle will stage a day for Chuck Tanner, hometown boy who plays in the Chicago outfield.

In winning Sunday, the Redlegs broke a seven-game losing streak and did it in convincing fashion. They tattooed eight Pirate pitchers, four in each game, for 14 hits in the opener and 19 in the nightcap.

Ted Kluszewski hit his second home run of the season in the fourth inning of the second game and then got another in the sixth. Smokey Burgess, who had four-for-four at the plate, backed up Kluszewski's first homer with his eighth.

In the first game, the Pirates scored five runs in the fifth inning to go ahead, 5-2, but the Redlegs scored once in the sixth and then six more in the seventh to win handily.

Cincinnati continued its power exhibition by scoring five runs in the first inning of the second game and added one in the second and two in the fourth.

Both Pirate starters were knocked out the first inning, Art Swanson in the opener and Joe Trimble in the second. Trimble was charged with the first defeat to run his record to 0-2 and Bob Friend, who pitched only one-third of an inning, went down to his 11th defeat in the second.

Drills Begin For Annual PGA Tourney

DAYTON, Ohio (UP) — The first "official" practice starts today at the Miami Valley Country Club in preparation for the 39th annual Professional Golfers Assn. tournament having total prize money of $40,100, including $8,000 for the winner.

Nearly all the 30 "early birds" who arrived Sunday tested the greens at the par-71 rolling course even though club members crowded the grounds as usual on Sunday.

The best of the few scores reported was a two-under-par 69 by Henry Lindner of Nashville, Tenn.

Doug Ford, who is the present Masters champion, had a 71; Dick Mayer, the last Open winner, shot a 72; Sam Snead, three-time PGA winner, carded a 73; and Jack Burke Jr., defending PGA titlist, turned in a 75 Sunday.

The field of 128 tees off Wednesday morning for 162 holes of golf, with 18 holes the first session and two rounds a day after that.

Ford, the 1955 PGA titlist and the top money winner among the touring pros this year, is listed as "the man to beat" despite his failure to live up to his "favorite" rating in the National Open.

Dow Finsterwald and Mike Souchak, two of the nation's top young pros, will play in the event for the first time.

Johnson Regains Toronto Favor

By UNITED PRESS

Don Johnson, who only 10 days ago threatened never to play for Toronto again, has pitched his way back into the hearts of Maple Leaf fans.

The 30-year-old right hander, who left the International League team after an argument with Manager Dixie Walker, came back to pitch a three-hit 3-0 shutout over Rochester in the opener of a twin-bill Sunday. In the second game, veteran Johnny Schmitz also limited the Red Wings to three hits while winning, 1-0.

In other double-headers, Montreal swept Buffalo, 8-0 and 3-2; Miami edged Columbus twice, 7-6 and 3-2, and Richmond split with Havana, winning the first, 3-0, and dropping the second, 5-1.

Toronto, by sweeping the two games, broke a seven - game losing streak and moved to within two lengths of first place. Johnson, who won his seventh game against four losses, was aided by the homers of Loren Babe and Hal Daniels.

Connie Grob surprised hard-hitting Buffalo with a five - hitter in the opener while little Jackie Collum held the Bisons to but three hits in the nightcap. The twin win enabled last-place Montreal to sweep the five - game series from league-leading Buffalo.

Homers by Johnny Bucha and Frank Herrera and the relief pitching of ancient Satchel Paige paved the way for Miami's opening win over Columbus. In the second game, Bubba Church gave up five hits in earning his third triumph in four decisions.

Philly 'Whiz Kids' Now Hottest Team in National League Race

By JOHN GRIFFIN

Maybe it's about time somebody took those cocky Philadelphia Phillies seriously as pennant threats, because the "Whiz Kids" in the candy-striped suits are the hottest team in the National League and knocking on the door of first place.

The Phillies now are only a half-game behind the league - leading St. Louis Cardinals, whom they walloped in both ends of a Sunday twin bill, 6-2, 11-4. And they can take over first place tonight by beating the Cards.

The Sunday sweep behind 'comeback" pitchers Curt Simmons and Jim Hearn was the Phillies' fourth double - header sweep of the season and gave them 10 wins in the last 12 games.

The Phils treated two Card hurling stars roughly. In the opener, they handed 18-year-old Von McDaniel the first whipping of his big league career after four wins, and in the nightcap they shelled out 10-game winner Larry Jackson in less than three innings. Rip Repulski's three-run homer in the first inning and Simmons' two-run double in the fourth were the big jolts to bonus baby McDaniel.

In the nightcap, the Phils broke a 3-3 tie with a four-run burst in the third inning and Hearn coasted to victory despite allowing 11 hits.

Race Tightened

The Cards' double loss tightened the whole NL pennant race. Gil Hodges' two-run, ninth-inning homer gave Brooklyn a 3-2 win over Milwaukee, moving Brooklyn within 2½ games of the top as Milwaukee edged to within one. And Cincinnati moved within 2½ games as it ended a seven-game losing streak by blasting Pittsburgh twice, 9-6, 12-4. In the other NL game, the Giants beat the Cubs, 86, in 12 innings.

The New York Yankees retained their three-game American League lead when they rallied for six runs in the ninth inning—four on a grand-slam homer by Bill Skowron and one on a homer by Tommy Byrne — to beat the second-place Chicago White Sox, 6-4, in the second game of a twin bill after lefty Billy Pierce beat them 3-1, in the opener.

In other AL games, the Cleveland Indians moved within a half-game of third-place Boston by beating the Sox twice, 3-2 and 17-4; the Detroit Tigers swept the Baltimore Orioles, 10-2 and 7-6 in 10 innings, and Kansas City beat Washington, 11-3, in the second game after the Senators took the first, 4-1.

"Dodger killer" Bob Buhl had his fourth straight win over the Brooks wrapped up until he walked Gino Cimoli to open the ninth and then served a home-run pitch to Hodges. Red Schoendienst had homered for the Braves' first run and Andy Pafko had doubled home the lead run in the top of the ninth.

The Redlegs broke out of their slump with 33 hits, good for 51 bases, in crushing Pittsburgh twice. Ted Kluszewski topped the slugging with two homers in the second game. Reliever Bud Freeman won the opener when the Redlegs came from behind with six runs in the seventh. Joe Nuxhall scattered 10 hits to take the second.

Lockman Saves Giants

Whitey Lockman's two-run homer with two out in the ninth saved the Giants from a 6-4 loss and then Willie Mays' two-run homer in the 12th won it for them. Marv Grissom's five shutout innings earned him a relief win.

Pierce's five-hit win, in which he fanned seven Yankees, was his 13th, tops in the majors. The Sox beat Bobby Shantz with two tie-breaking runs in the sixth inning. In the nightcap, Dick Donovan had the Yankees shut out until they exploded in the ninth but the loss was charged to Jim Wilson, who was tagged for Skowron's and Byrne's homers on successive pitches.

Ted Williams homered in each game for the Boston Red Sox, giving him 25 and the AL lead by one homer over Mickey Mantle. But the Indians beat Boston in the first game by scoring two runs in the ninth inning with the help of Norm Zauchin's throwing error. And the Tribe bagged 20 hits to win the nightcap behind rookie Stan Pitula.

Billy Hoeft slammed two home runs and a single to lead his own 17-hit support in the Tigers' first-game win. Red Wilson singled home the winning run in the nightcap with two out in the 10th after Jim Brideweser's throwing error kept the inning alive.

The Senators won their opener with three runs in the fifth inning. The A's took the second with six in the sixth as Irv Noren led a 17-hit attack with two home runs.

Segregation Trial Continues

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UP) —The government gets to the heart of its contempt case against 16 segregationists today when their trial begins its second week.

The first business is expected to be a ruling by U.S. District Judge Robert L. Taylor on whether three clips of newsreel films should be admitted as evidence. The movies may show the central defendant, John Kasper, a New Jersey - born volunteer in southern racial affairs, mingling with some of his 15 reluctant co-defendants from Clinton, Tenn.

Judge Taylor has ruled the government must prove one or more of the other defendants conspired with Kasper after the jurist enjoined interference with integration at Clinton High School last August.

Knowledge and understanding of the injunction and "overt acts" in violation of it also must be proved. It is the "overt acts" that U.S. Atty. John C. Crawford Jr., the prosecutor, is expected to get into early this week.

Kasper spent a busy weekend while the trial was in recess. He spoke at a Ku Klux Klan rally in Gaffney, S.C., Saturday night. He showed up for a White Citizens Council "preaching" near Knoxville Sunday afternoon with a well known Ku Klux Klan leader but without a preacher. The meeting was postponed a week.

Leader Okays Move to Revise The Constitution

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader today approved legislation for the creation of a non-partisan commission to study and recommend revisions in the state's 83-year-old Constitution terming the move "a victory for every citizen of the Commonwealth."

The measure appropriated $50,000 to cover the expenses of the study commission. Leader praised the proposal as the first step towards revision of the Constitution which he said is "not adequate for 1957 and our present state government."

"This is a victory for the cause of good and efficient government ...for it is the first step toward giving Pennsylvania a modern Constitution that will meet the needs of today.

The governor said that one example of how badly the "antiquated" Constitution is outmoded lies in the provision limiting the amount of money the state can borrow for capital purposes.

"It has cost Pennsylvania's taxpayers hundreds of millions of dollars — because the state was forced into the expensive and inefficient authority method of borrowing," the governor said

New President Of Rotary Club Names Chairmen

The newly installed president, Joseph Wells, conducted the dinner meeting of the Belle Vernon Rotary Club held in the social rooms of the First Methodist Church Thursday evening.

There was a general discussion of club problems and activities. The president also named committee chairmen for the year. They are J. R. Terney, vocational; Edward Harry, international activities; George Wenick, club activities and Charles Toteda, community service.

Guests attending included W. F. Coughenour, of West Newton and Bruno Pupilli, of Miami, Fla. The latter was a guest of Eugene Handelsman.

A representative of the Uniontown branch of the American Cancer Society will be guest speaker at this week's session.

Legion Auxiliary Prizes Awarded Here Thursday

All proceeds from the card party sponsored Thursday evening by the Belle Vernon American Legion Auxiliary to Post 659 went to the Salvation Army building fund.

High score awards went to Mrs. Mabel O'Hara, Mrs. Velma Renner, five hundred; Mrs. Helen Wilson, James Davis, Mrs. Emma Jarvis, W. T. Wilson, euchre; Mrs. Mary Peroney, pinochle.

Special prizes were won by Mrs Jarvis, Mrs. Mary Riskey, Mrs. Helen Thieser and Mrs. Mary Ferrari while guest prizes were awarded to Mrs. Ann Lucas and Mrs. Peroney.

Mrs. Ann Lucas headed the committee in charge of the affair. She was assisted by Mrs. Inez Lehew, unit president, Mrs. Mary Kissler, Mrs. Mary Bashada, Mrs. Lillie Wells, Mrs. Ferrari, Mrs. Riskey, Mrs. Betty Lucas, Mrs. Jarvis and Mrs. Ann Diedrich.

There will be no card party Thursday of this week. On Thursday, July 25, a party will be sponsored by the unit for the Girl Scouts.

King's Daughters Class Plans for Annual Picnic

An outdoor meeting was held by the members of the King's Daughters Class of the First Baptist Church on Thursday evening at the home of Dorothy Nemosek, Perryopolis R. D Stella Shosky was co-hostess. The session was postponed from last Tuesday due to the Community Picnic.

June River conducted the devotional period taking her subject from the book of Psalms.

During the business session the class made plans to attend the annual Sunday School picnic at Redd's Beach, July 24.

Plans were also made for the next meeting with LaVina McClain as hostess with Stella Shosky and Dorothy Nemosek in charge of the games.

Cards were sent to the ill members.

Naval Nurse In Visit Home

Lt. (j.g.) Margaret M. Halkowitz, of the U. S. Naval Reserve Nurse Corps, recently received transfer orders from the Tripler Army Hospital, Hawaii, to the U. S. Naval Hospital, Quantico, Va.

Lt. Halkowitz entered the nurse corps in February of 1954. Before entering the service she was employed as an industrial nurse at the Monessen plant of the Pittsburgh Steel Co. She was graduated from St. Francis Hospital School of Nursing, Pittsburgh, in 1952.

She is enroute home to spend a leave with her parents, Mr. and and Mrs. Michael Halkowitz, 116 Price St., Belle Vernon, before reporting to her new assignment.

Willing Workers Class in Meeting

The Willing Workers Class of the Marion Presbyterian Church will meet Friday evening in the church social room. Mrs. Robert Kennedy will have charge of the business session.

Hostesses for the social hour will be Mrs. Betty Hamer and Mrs. Walter Tarr.

Mr. and Mrs. James Walker and three daughters, Alexa, Brenda and Candy are visiting at the home of Mrs. Walker's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex Newell, of Delmont St. On Wednesday they plan to leave for their home in South Carolina. They also visited in Ridgeway with Mr. Walker's parents.

Dorothy Karbowsky, of Lynnwood and Florence Zadroszny, of Fairhope, are vacationing in Miami, Fla. They also plan to tour points of interest in New York City.

Sparkle Nine in Regular Meeting

A meeting of the Sparkle Nine Club was held at the home of Mrs. Jean Brazack, in Lynnwood. Two tables of five hundred were in play.

Winning the high score prizes were Mrs. Isabelle Kortina, Mrs. Helen Adams, Mrs. Jennie Lehew, Mrs. Clarice Cavanaugh and Mrs. Brazack.

Luncheon was served after play. The women presented the hostess with a gift, and Mrs. Gladys Bakewell was named next hostess.

Former Resident In Visit Here From the Coast

Mrs. Oscar Corwin, of Anaheim, Calif., former resident of Belle Vernon, and her granddaughter, Debbie Potter, of Torrance, Calif., recently visited with Mr. and Mrs. Amerigo Franceschi, of Graham St., and other local residents.

Debbie is the daughter of Carlene Corwin Potter. She is three years old and this was the first time her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Austin Corwin, of Speer St., have seen her.

They were accompanied here by Milton Wallace, also of Anaheim, and Mrs. Corwin's mother, Mrs. Barbara Zundel, of LaHabre, who is visiting local relatives.

The party went to Washington, D. C., on Saturday to visit Mrs. Zundel's sister, Mrs. Walter Beatty. They plan to travel to many other points of interest before returning to California.

Mrs. Betty Hamer Entertains Club

Mrs. Betty Hamer, of Fairhope, was hostess to members of her club at her home on Thursday evening. There were two tables of five hundred in play.

High score awards were presented to Mrs. Alice Davis, Mrs. Edith Weaver, Mrs. Kathryn Kobosky and Mrs. Cora Toth, who won the special prize.

Mrs. Weaver and Mrs. Kobosky were guests.

Luncheon was served and Mrs. Mary Leithold was named next hostess.

Christian Church Ladies Society Visits at Home

The members of the Ladies Missionary Society of the First Christian Church made a trip to the Carrie Seay Children's Home at Somerset instead of holding the usual meeting last Thursday.

There were three car loads of women making the trip, which was of particular interest since the organization aids the home financially.

While there the women visited with eight year old Phyllis Rodkey, the little girl they have adopted by proxy. They presented her with a gift, and she was permitted to be their guest for a picnic dinner.

There was a brief devotional period and a brief business session. The women decided to visit at Camp Christian in August instead of holding the regular meeting.

The local party was taken on a complete tour of the home and of the grounds.

Miss Laura Free will bring Phyllis to Belle Vernon to visit among the society members for a week.

Degree of Honor Holds Picnic At City Park

Members of the Degree of Honor Protective Association held a picnic on Friday evening at Monessen City Park. This replaced the August business session.

After a picnic dinner there was a short business meeting with the president, Mrs. Ina Crow, in charge.

Plans were made for another picnic to be held on Aug. 16 at the park. Announcement will be made later concerning the regular Aug. 3 meeting.

A social hour followed and special awards were won by Mrs. Jarvis and Mrs. Edith Panzo. Games were played and those winning high score awards were Mrs. Elizabeth Morton, Mrs. Maude Hammitt, Mrs. Bertha Forsberg, Mrs. Panzo and Mrs. Zelma Kostelac.

Mrs. James Tiernan, of Broad Ave. and her mother, Mrs. Ella Leithold, of Henry St., returned home on Friday evening after an extensive trip to the state of California to visit the former's son, Wayne, who makes his home there. The trip was made by train and they visited many points of interest in California and other western states. They also visited in Mexico.

There will be a meeting of the Bellmar High School Class of 1953 at the American Legion Post Home Friday evening at 8:30 o'clock. Plans will be made for a reunion, and all members are asked to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Mills, of Brownsville, were recent Belle Vernon visitors.

Opening of St. Lawrence Seaway Will Bring Prosperity to Many

(The first of five dispatches by a UP correspondent who toured the St. Lawrence Seaway route from Montreal to Milwaukee and interviewed leading officials of the project.)

By ROBERT E. JACKSON

ALONG THE ST. LAWRENCE SEAWAY (UP) — The Midwest is on the march.

It is walking on water—along "the Seaway" which will open the heart of North America 2,350 miles inland to ocean-sized vessels sailing off the Atlantic, up the St. Lawrence River into the Great Lakes, and out again.

This will be a new "eighth sea," a "fourth seacoast" with 8,000 new miles of shoreline. It will put Chicago and Cleveland, Duluth and Detroit, Muskegon and Milwaukee on the dockstep of the world.

Ocean freighters of 8,000-10,000 tons and lake-type ships of 25,000 tons—90 per cent of the world's shipping—will be able to steam up the network of canals, locks and channels deepened to 27 feet. Grain can move from the Midwest breadbasket straight to Europe by sea. Iron ore can come from the new deposits in Labrador to feed the blast furances of the area which already churns out a third of America's agricultural and industrial products.

To Open In '59

In April, 1959, the spectacular billion - dollar Canadian-American Seaway will open the Lake Erie ports of Buffalo, Cleveland and Toledo to world shipping.

By 1962 an American channel-deepening project will allow the bigger ships with bigger payloads on Lake Huron, Superior and Michigan, to move more goods more rapidly and cheaply than by the old rail-boat routes.

As a political by - product, the "isolationist" Midwest will look out on the globe.

It is an exciting vista which has stirred the imagination of the world. It has, in fact, stirred some right out of this world—those who saw Chicago passing New York as a world port, geisha girls from Tokyo dancing on the docks of Detroit, the Queen Mary tying up at Cleveland's bare new pier.

Critics and competitors of the Seaway, who held up the project for a bitter half - century, have heard so many exaggerations and pierside pipedreams from the lakes that they tend to shrug it off as an over - publicized white elephant.

May Hurt Railroads

But businessmen to the East, West and South ignore the clatter along the lakes at their peril. This is going to affect everyone in the United States.

In the short run it may hurt some eastern and southern ports and railroads who will lose business to the lakes.

In the long run, however, the entire nation can hope to benefit from the economic momentum the Seaway will generate. There will be, the experts say, plenty for all to transport.

With a sober second glance, responsible officials in the Midwest today realize the shortcomings of the Seaway. It will be icebound five months a year. Some of the ports will not be ready for expanded trade. There will be no overnight jump in foreign cargo.

Every small town will not be another New York—it won't even be a Chicago or Milwaukee. The Seaway's locks will have a limited capacity which will prevent the fantastic tonnages predicted by super-selling boosters.

New York, New Orleans, Philadelphia and the railroads are not going to roll over and play dead in the face of new competition. Nor will Houston, Baltimore, Boston and Norfolk.

Miss Main Point

Yet many of the critics who still douse the Seaway with cold water miss the main point.

To the 40 million "lake people" —and their neighbors in booming Canada — the Seaway is not just a waterway. It is today a catchword, the catalyst which they hope will help them build an economic colossus rivalling the most mighty.

A generation from now it may be impossible to say whether it was "the Seaway" or "the expressway" which lured industry to the lakes. The point will be that industry came.

And industry is already coming. The impact is already here. With the promise of cheap, fast transport of Labrador iron, steel firms have plunged hundreds of millions of dollars into Midwest plant expansion. With power and a waterway next door, aluminum and automobile companies are pouring 125 million dollars into factories on the St. Lawrence at Massena, N.Y. Yesterday Massena was a sleepy sulphur spa.

See Silver Lining

Small towns around the lakes, their dreams of world commerce dashed, now see a silver lining—industrial expansion. For industry goes to water.

Experts estimate that 80 per cent of the traffic on the Seaway will be "bulk" cargo—iron, grain, coal to feed the growing industrial giant of the northlands. This is not very glamorous — but it can be profitable.

In the first years there will be less of the exotic foreign cargo than the lake dreamers have prophesied. But on the drawing boards of U.S. and Canadian inland cities are 335 million dollars in port projects. Foreign trade on the lakes is growing each year.

If a distant tomorrow is as bright as the lakes are hell-bent on making it, New York may yet lose more than the baseball Giants and Dodgers.

SALLY'S SALLIES

"Which of us will propose first, darling?"

Steel Increases Will Bring Other Boosts

CLEVELAND, Ohio (UP)—What will the midyear steel and wage increases mean to steel users and ultimately the consumer?

According to Steel Magazine, pricing reactions will be varied. The metalworking publication listed four possibilities:

1. Some metalworking firms will pass the increase along in the form of an average price hike of about 7 per cent. (The steel increase averaged 4 per cent.)

2. Others will absorb part of the increased costs because of competitive conditions.

3. A few firms will absorb all the increased costs.

4. Many will await action by competitors.

In Detroit, according to the magazine, most producers feel that prices will have to be increased, but some are holding off because of slow sales, competition and upcoming improvement factors. The general feeling is that all the increase will be added, which, with the cost of living and improvement factors, will add $30 to $60 to the price of 1958 cars.

A Cleveland producer of nuts and bolts commented, "I can't think of a single reason why we should not pass on all the steel price increase."

Perry Williams, president of Kelsey-Hayes Co., Detroit, an auto wheels and aircraft components manufacturer, told Steel, "in this industry there are no fixed prices. We'll be passing along all the increase as soon as we can. How else can you make a profit?"

In Pittsburgh a spokesman for the Westinghouse Electric Corp., estimated the steel increase will add $2.5 million to the firm's costs.

Out of New York comes word that metalworking companies are eliminating all overtime in an effort to keep costs down and pushing incentive systems to increase productivity. Most will pass on all or part of the steel price advance, the publication reported.

Steel noted that this is the sixth consecutive year of steel price increases, each one following a wage increase to steelworkers.

"Last summer the base price of steel rose an average of $8.50 a ton, which the industry said was inadequate. This sent the Bureau of Labor Statistics finished steel price index up 10 points. In December, price extras pushed the index up another 6 points. The current steel base increase (averaging $6 per ton) will raise the BLS another 7 index points," Steel said.

Somerset Hospital Head Is Named

HARRISBURG (UP)—The state Welfare Department announced today the appointment of Dr. Hilding A. Bengs as superintendent of Somerset State Hospital, effective Aug. 1.

Dr. Bengs, associated with the state mental hospital system for nearly 25 years, is a consultant in psychiatric administration in the department here.

Final Day to Enroll in State Grassland Club

By UNITED PRESS

Today is the last day for farmers to enroll in the Pennsylvania Grassland Club. Enrollment blanks are available at local county agent offices.

The club is sponsored by the Pennsylvania Crop Improvement Association to stimulate better farming practices in the seeding and use of grasses and legumes.

Last year 6 farmers qualified for club awards with scoring base on production and management of an entire farm.

After enrollment, management report forms will be sent which must be filled out and returned by Sept. 1, for scoring.

To be eligible, applicants must be a farm operator over 21.

The deadline for enrollment in the Pennsylvania Corn Club, also sponsored by the Pennsylvania Crop Improvement Association, is Aug. 1.

No less than five acres of one hybrid or variety on a farm may be entered in that club's contest. The land must not be irrigated and the hybrid or variety must be used for corn production, not seed production.

A five-day course entitled "Improving the Home Grounds" will be opened to rural Pennsylvanians and city dwellers at the Pennsylvania State University from July 22 to 26.

Instruction will be given in the use of lowers, shrubs and trees to make outdoor living omre enjoyable.

Students in small groups will be instructed in landscape design work, disease and insect control, operation of small greenhouses and hotbeds, and establishment and maintenance of lawns.

The course is open to adults only.

Bad Omen

TROYES, France (UP)—Albert Marchal, 42, and his fiance started married life somewhat deliriously but not necessarily at the prospect of matrimony. Marchal, was hit on the head and knocked unconscious by a 75-pound painting while waiting in the town hall to be married and his bride promptly fainted from shock.

Body of Man Found in Trunk

NEW YORK (UP)— Police searched today for two men, believed to have been unsuspecting dupes, who delivered a trunk containing the bullet-riddled body of a 52-year-old painter to a Railway Express office for shipment to Los Angeles.

A check of fingerprint files at FBI headquarters in Washington identified the victim as James Malloy of New York, formerly of Philadelphia.

The small caliber of the weapon used, a .22, gave rise to the theory Malloy had been shot by a woman, police said.

His body, pierced by three slugs and wrapped in New York City newspapers, was delivered to a 42nd Street Railway Express office Saturday afternoon by two men, each about 28 years old, whom police believe were hired messengers unaware of the trunk's contents.

The corpse was discovered five hours later when express workers, suspicious of the strong odor emanating from the trunk, forced the lock.

A medical examiner said Malloy had been dead about 24 hours when his body was discovered.

The small trunk—35 inches long, 15 inches deep and 20 inches wide —was addressed to a "Hal Jefferson" of the Ambassador Hotel in Los Angeles. But hotel officials said no person by that name was registered at the Ambassador, nor was there any record of anyone by that name having stayed at the hotel.

Police received good descriptions of the men who delivered the trunk to the express office by car.

Science Shrinks Piles New Way Without Surgery

Finds Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special) — For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!"

The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne*)—discovery of a world-famous research institute.

This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form under the name Preparation H.® At your druggist. Money back guarantee.

Hundreds Flee Homes in the Chicago Area

By UNITED PRESS

Floodwaters from the Chicago areas record weekend rain coursed through industrial and residential sections of northeastern Illinois and northern Indiana today, forcing hundreds of persons to flee their homes.

But the threat of a fresh onslaught of turbulent weather in the Midwest Sunday night and today failed to materialize.

In the industrial area of Whiting, Gary and Hammond, Ind., the Grand Calumet River spilled over into subdivisions of Highland and Calumet City, and hundreds of persons left their homes.

Volunteers sandbagged dikes on the river to prevent it from flooding another 500 to 1,000 homes in Hammond

The death toll as a result of the storm stood at 11, four of them killed by electrocution and the others victims of drowning and heart attacks.

A heat-chasing cool air mass pushed as far east as the Allegheny Mountains and most of New England today, touching off a few scattered showers on the way.

Four Hurt in Erie Accident

ERIE, Pa. (UP)—A soldier stationed in California and three Erie district men were injured this morning in a headon automobile collision on Route 5, a mile and a half east of here.

In Hamot Hospital were Gabriel Beazley, 21, stationed at Fort McArthur, San Pedro, Calif, who suffered broken ribs and a head injury; Sterling E. Harris Jr., 23, Northeast RD 5; Jeffrey Shore, Erie, head injury, and Aaron Baughman, Erie, leg injury.

State police said Beazley apparently pulled out to pass as he drove west and smashed headon into the other machine, which was driven by Harris.

Underground Undies

LONDON (UP) — Visitors from Mars could be forgiven if they assumed English women wore nothing but brassieres and scanties, an official of the British Professional Womens Clubs said here. Audrey Taylor said her federation was "perturbed" about the growing number of advertisements for scanty undies, particularly in subway stations.

VFW Official Resigns; Tepsic New Commander

HARRISBURG (UP)—The Pennsylvania Department, Veterans of Foreign Wars, today announced the retirement of James F. Colley, Camp Hill, as its claims service director after 11 years in the post.

Colley submitted his resignation to the organizations Council of Administration at a meeting Sunday following the annual three-day encampment.

William J. Tepsic, Pittsburgh, newly-elected state commander, told the group he planned to visit each of the VFWs more than 700 posts throughout the state during his term.

Winners in Saturdays VFW parade were:

Bands, Uniontown; rifle team, Grove City; senior drum and bugle corps, Youngwood; junior drill team, Gladiators, Philadelphia; largest band, Newport; most novel, Kilties, York; largest uniformed group, Garden Spot post, Lancaster.

Turnpike Trial Moves Into Its Final Stages

HARRISBURG (UP)—The Pennsylvania Turnpike conspiracy trial moved into its final stages this week following the death of a juror.

Ray L. Bingaman, 74, Harrisburg, died Sunday in a downtown hotel where he and the other jurors have been confined when not in court since the trial opened June 4.

A retired cabinet maker, Bingaman was found in the bathroom of his hotel room by Dauphin County Sheriff Wesley M. Barrick and a deputy. A hotel physician attributed death to a heart attack

Judge Homer L. Kreider said Mrs. Bessie M. Blake, Harrisburg, first alternate juror, will replace Bingaman on the panel.

The court previously indicated that testimony in the long trial may be concluded this week, with the defense presenting its final witnesses in the trial of nine men charged with conspiracy to defraud the commission of almost 20 million dollars.

The state charges the alleged fraud centered around contracts with the Manu-Mine Research and Development Co., Reading, for mine filling work under the Northeastern Extension.

Saturday's session featured the appearance of William A. Schnader, former state attorney general, as a character witness for Theodore S. Paul, former turnpike legal counsel and one of the defendants.

Schnader, a Philadelphia attorney, said he has known Paul for 45 years and described the former commission employe as an "able, conscientious lawyer with an unimpeachable reputation for honesty."

Catches Up Lunch

MANKATO, Minn. (UP)—A San Clemente, Calif., man finally caught up with a lunch he paid for a generation ago. Harry Anderson, 50, presented a local cafe with a 32-year-old meal ticket which he purchased when he was a Mankato bus driver.

Self-styled TV Critic, Joe E. Lewis, Speaks

By JOE E. LEWIS

NEW YORK (UP) — This is not my first experience as a TV critic. Once, Ed Sullivan, writing about those who have tried to analyze his success in TV, quoted my description of him. I said:

"Ed Sullivan has personality, but not for a human being. Ed Sullivan is my only friend who brightens a room by leaving it.

"Ed Sullivan was once a greeter at Forest Lawn Cemetery in California, but quit in self-defense when they tried to bury him on three different occasions."

Ed Sullivan agreed with the justice of these references. That's a distinction few critics have—their subjects admitting the description.

Queried About TV

But seriously, since my appearances on the Ed Sullivan show and other guest shots, I have been asked why I am not on TV regularly. My serious reply "I love a saloon" has not been accepted. Neither has my contention that in the monitor I look like the Merrimac.

Others have asked "Is it the money?"

Of course, I have the first buck I ever made, nothing after that, just the first buck.

Was I too busy?

Outside of my assignment to humanize Adlai Stevenson by teaching him grammatical errors my time between race track meetings is fairly open.

Therefore, I am most flattered by the wave of popular interest in TV and me. I was offered a 39 weeks deal on TV which was rejected because the sponsor was a temperance league.

My doctor says I don't need television. What TV has done to other comedians, he feels I have succeeded in doing to myself purely through recreation.

I am, however, most encouraged by the TV formats I have received:

"Saloon to saloon"—I interview bartenders across the nation.

"Prohibition era rock 'n' roll revue" — I sing the hit songs of the prohibition era for middle-aged adolescents who never grew up.

"Street corner" — An afternoon show where I do an Arlene Francis, giving lectures: "How To Recognize a Plainclothesman On Sight" or "The Best Way To Talk To a Bookmaker" or "Pinochle Etiquette" or other subjects of interest to the housewife.

"Hideout'—A Jack Webb type show where the cops always are outwitted.

"Joe E. Lewis Carry the Torch Club" — A show where all the heavies in TV and motion pictures who lose their girls to the heroes come to tell me their stories and get advice.

A new Western series in which the cowboy is just as smart as the horse.

My faith in television is unlimited.

Movie Actress Of Long Ago Buys New Face

By ALINE MOSBY

HOLLYWOOD (UP) — Now they're not only remaking old movies, but old movie actresses, too.

Peggy Hamilton, a screen actress and colorful personality of the 20s and '30's, put down her crocheting to announce she's going to Texas to kick up her heels and buy a new face.

This re-make of 60ish, blonde Peggy will come via a "face peel," a non-surgical skin treatment involving removal of several layers of old skin at the Dr. Mark Graham Clinic in Dallas.

"I want to look exactly as I did 20 years ago," explained the vivacious ex-actress and fashion editor.

Most aging movie queens have their face-lifts and face peels done in strict privacy. But Miss Hamilton even tossed a cocktail party (the approved procedure in Hollywood) to announce to the press and assorted backless and frontless starlets her plan for rejuvenation.

This party was billed as "the party of the first part." In six weeks the new Peggy plans to give a "coming out" party, the party of the second part, for the same guests to see if they recognize the remodeling job.

What Is the Harm In Using 'Placebo'?

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

There is an old saying which states that "All that glitters is not gold." So, too, all that is given a patient by a doctor is not necessarily medicine.

I am referring to placebos, of course, the value of which in certain cases, cannot be disputed. However, ethics of administering placebos in clinical medicine have been argued for more years than I can remember, and I am no Johnny-come-lately in this field.

Simply defined, placebos are injections, tablets or liquids given a patient despite the fact they have no medical value. A "pure" placebo — a saline solution is an example — has no pharmacologic action whatever. An adulterated placebo does contain some medicament, but not enough to affect the disease of the person to whom it is given.

This does not mean placebos have no value at all. On the contrary, they do. They are invaluable in checking the effects of new drugs by serving as inert preparations for control groups.

However, believe it or not, they frequently are very helpful in treating disease. In fact, most patients will react at least occasionally when placebos are given instead of actual medication.

There have been many instances where patients have been given only placebos and have reported relief from pain or some other improvement in their illness. Many patients also report side reactions such as itching, diarrhea and even extreme weakness when given just a "blank" preparation.

Neither sex nor intelligence appears to have anything to do with a patient's reaction.

One study of 1,082 patients disclosed that about one-third of them were decidedly improved after placebo therapy. Conditions helped by administration of these non-drug drugs included headaches, tension, wound pain and even the common cold.

The fact that a patient is being aided by placebo therapy does not mean the doctor should stop seeking some medication that might be of more physical help.

Today in Congress:

House in Debate on Foreign Aid Program

WASHINGTON (UP) — The House, opening debate today on the foreign aid program, heard a warning that Soviet leaders victorious in the recent Kremlin upheaval still seek to dominate the world.

Chairman Thomas S. Gordon (D-Il.) of the House Foreign Affairs Committee said the "current shifts in the Kremlin mean new faces, but we have no basis whatever for any hope that the old Communist threat has been removed."

He defended his committee's $3,242,333,000 aid program as necessary to bolster the free world against Communist aggression.

"The savage suppression of the Hungarian revolt last October made clear that the post-Stalin Soviet regime was no less determined to use military force to obtain its objectives than its predecessor," Gordon said.

House leaders expressed confidence they had the votes to beat back an amendment Rep. Frank T. Bow (R-Ohio) hoped to tack on the program. Bow's proposal would deny aid funds to any nation which has a status-of-forces agreement with the United States governing jurisdiction over U.S. servicemen for offduty crimes.

Other congressional news:

Rights: The Senate entered its second week of civil rights debate with compromise talk still going on. Much of the talk centered around the proposal by Sen. Karl E. Mundt (R-S.D.) to do away with two of the features most objectionable to southerners. It would eliminate injunctions for rights cases other than voting cases where the facts are in dispute.

Immigration: Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) said he would introduce legislation for "drastically needed reforms" in immigration laws. He said immigration and refugee legislation is "one of the most urgent items facing Congress" and should be acted on this year.

Pay TV: Chairman Emanuel Celler (D-N.Y.) of the House Judiciary Committee warned the Federal Communications Commission to get congressional approval before conducting any pay-as-you see television experiments. Celler said the FCC stretched its legal power "to its very limits, if not beyond" in deciding to carry out subscription TV trials. He said pay-TV poses such "a grave threat to the public interest" that it could drive free network television as we know it from the airwaves."

Communists: The House Committee on Un-American Activities planned an inquiry later this week into reports that Communists have been able to gain access to secret Defense Department messages. A committee aide said the group has information indicating that Communists infiltrated transmission media and got secret information from defense messages.

Radiation: Reps. Chet Holifield (D-Calif.) and James van Zandt (R-Pa.) agreed that radioactive fallout present in the atmosphere as the result of nuclear bomb testing is not dangerous. But the lawmakers, members of the Senate-House Atomic Energy Commission, said the radiation level could reach the danger point if the testing continues at the same rate for the next 10 years.

Altoona Terms Mass Evacuation Test 'Success'

ALTOONA, Pa. (UP)—Civil Defense officials today termed a "success" a mass evacuation test in which 1,400 persons removed from the city to a dispersal center at Ebensburg, 25 miles away.

Lt. Gov. Roy E. Furman and state Civil Defense Director Richard C. Gerstell observed the exercise — "Operation Escape" — and expressed pleasure at the way it was carried off.

Richard Stemmel, central area CD director, said practice evacuation proved all of Altoona's 80,000 residents could be evacuated within an hour and a half.

Four hundred automobiles were used to take the evacuees to Ebensburg where they were served refreshments and watched defense demonstrations. At 4 p.m., two hours after the start of the alert, they were returned to Altoona.

Leader to Sign Third Class City Option Measure

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader said he will approve today legislation giving Pennsylvania's 47 third class cities an option of three types of home rule.

The measure allows the cities to choose between the present city council form of government and a mayor-council framework or council-city manager type. The Assembly approved bill spelled out procedures for adopting the forms of local government and detailed how each would operate the city.

Ten per cent of the electorate could petition for a study of a new local form of home rule under terms of the measure. The governor said "allowing local residents the opportunity to choose their own forms of government... has been needed in Pennsylvania for 35 years."

"The importance of home rule cannot be overemphasized," Leader said. "Complexities of city government have increased and often the structure of municipal governments has not been flexible enough to cope with mounting problems."

Webster Bible Classes in Meeting Thursday Evening

The Good News Bible Study Class of the Webster Presbyterian Church met on Thursday evening at the home of Dora Ritchie, with Pauline Kriston serving as devotional leader.

Miss Kriston's topic was "Two Ways from the Place of Decision", based on scripture reading from Corinthians.

Peg Gillingham closed with a prayer, which was followed by a question-answer period from the Book of Romans.

Reports were submitted by secretary Dora Ritchie and treasurer Pauline Kriston.

Following the meeting, the ladies adjourned to the home of Bill Maurer where the mens' class was in session. Together they enjoyed a lunch in the form of a "hamburg fry." Dora Ritchie served as hostess for the ladies while Mrs. Mora Maurer served in that capacity for the men.

The meeting was a combined class and trustees meeting. Devotional leader was Peter Cupples whose topic was "We Are All Evangelists" and his scripture was from the Book of Romans.

The business was in charge of president Elmer Gillingham. Reports were presented by Bill Maurer, acting secretary, and Fred Riedel, treasurer.

Others attending the meeting were Muriel Kriston, Carol Maurer, June Cupples, Kathleen Lechenby, Earl Graham, Charles Ritchie and Rev. George Guest.

The trustees of the Pricedale Union Church will meet on Monday in the recreation hall at 7:30. All trustees are asked to attend.

Norton Suman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Suman, of Belle Vernon R. D. 1, has returned to his duties at Camp Lee, Va., where he will attend Quartermaster School for eight weeks. Prior to his current 14 day furlough, he was stationed at Fort Knox, Ky.

The Climbers Class of the Pricedale Union Sunday School will hold its class meeting at the recreation building Tuesday at 7:30 p. m. This meeting was originally scheduled for last week.

Tom Rogers and Earl Welsch, of Mercersburg, visited over the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Foor and Edward Rogers of Belle Vernon R. D. Tom is the son of Edward and brother of Mrs. Foor.

Recent visitors at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Echart were Mr. and Mrs. Owen Garrison, of Wilkinsburg; Mrs. Anna Hall, of Akron, O.; Tom Rogers and Earl Welsch, of Mercersburg and Edward Rogers, Belle Vernon R. D.

Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Huber, of Akron, O., visited with Mr. Huber's mother, Mrs. Alma Huber, of Brown St., Pricedale recently. Mrs. Huber accompanied her son to Akron for a vacation.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Naylor and children, Sally, Susan and Nancy, along with Mrs. Mary Carves have returned to their home in Belle Vernon R. D. after vacationing on the West Coast.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Patterson, their son, Bruce, and Mrs. James Cowan have returned to their home on Johnson Ave., Pricedale, after visiting Mrs. Cowan's brother and his family in Massachusetts.

The Ladies Adult Class of the Pricedale Union Sunday School will hold its regular monthly meeting on Tuesday in the home of Mrs. Lydia Popp, of Belle Vernon R. D.

Mr. and Mrs. G. R. Coulter are spending the week with former school friends, Mr. and Mrs. Wright of Detroit, Mich.

There will be no July meeting of the North Belle Vernon School Board. The regular session will be held the second Thursday of August.

Mrs. Hilda Bradley and children, of Baltimore, Md., and Mrs. Leonora Preskey and children, of Glen Burn, Md., have returned home after spending a few days with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Archie Monti, of Bluff St.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Mazur, of Green St., and Mrs. Joseph Kostelac, of Jean St. have returned home after visiting in Detroit, Mich.

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Green and children, Larry and Linda, of Vernon St., have returned home after a 10 days vacation at Green Bay, Wis.

Dairy Judging Session to Be Held Thursday

A 4-H dairy judging session will be held on Thursday, at 10 a. m. at the Jersey farm of Bud Blair located near Mission Inn across from the Latrobe Airport, according to Dale P. Jackson, associate county agent.

Represented at the judging session will be 4-H members from seven counties located in southwestern Pennsylvania.

The main purpose of this judging will be to select teams to represent each county at the 4-H club week at Pennsylvania State University in August. Paul Anderson, dairy extension specialist, will be present to construct in judging and to handle the placings of the cows.

The other farm included in the judging will be Norman Lentz Holstein Farm located near Baggaley and the Wayne Stewart Ayrshire farm located near Pleasant Unity.

4-H Dairy Club members from Westmoreland County that are 14 years of age or over and this is their second year in 4-H club work are invited to attend this judging session in order to pick Westmoreland County's Dairy Team.

Mr. and Mrs. Mylo Binley, of Donora, visited the past week with Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Felgar, of Pricedale.

Fair Weather In State Today

By UNITED PRESS

Generally fair weather conditions with ample sunshine for most sections of Pennsylvania was forecast for today and Tuesday.

Humidity was expected to drop to a comfortable low and temperatures for both days were expected to range in the 75 to 85 degree bracket across the state from northwest to southeast. Lowest temperatures tonight will be in the 50's in the mountains. Elsewhere it will vary between 60 and 65 degrees.

The present conditions are brought about by a leading edge of a cool air mass moving southward through Pennsylvania, accompanied by a narrow zone of cloudiness. No showers were forecast, however.

The outlook for Wednesday was generally fair and slightly warmer.

Heady Smoke

CHICAGO (UP)—Three Chicago area Marines lit up some marijuana today while police looked on. They were burning a four-acre plot of the narcotic with Marine Corps flame throwers.

Look at these 9 Features ... Compare with Costlier Mattresses!

1. Smooth on top—and on the bottom, too. Not a button or tuft anywhere. It's the modern way to sleep!
2. Smooth top stays smooth . . . squeeze the hidden tucked-in edge . . . feel how the upholstery is firmly anchored under the frame, so it can't ever shift, slide or bunch up.
3. Eight Vents—not 2 or 4—give free-flow cross ventilation inside the mattress so it can breathe.
4. Permalator reinforced construction gives extra support to make sure you get healthful, spine-level rest.
5. Luxurious layer-on-layer upholstery of fine felted cotton . . . a pre-built comfort zone that really relaxes you.
6. Crush-proof border that won't break down. Crush it hard . . . see how it bounces right back into shape!
7. Heavy-weave fabric cover — tough enough to last a lifetime—yet so smooth to the touch, so lovely to look at.
8. Electrically tempered steel coils—hundreds of them—tempered under high voltage to add years of resiliency.
9. Four Handles make it easy to turn. And the smooth top and bottom make it easier still.
